REMEMBER WHEN CITY WON STANLEY CUP?

Presence of Montreal Canadiens for training in Victoria has brought memories of the city's hockey greatness 36 years ago when our team won the Stanley Cup by beating the Canadiens of that day. On page 16 today Archie Wills, who was sports editor at the time, and subsequently managing editor, does a flashback to the memorable scenes at the old Willow's arena, long since gone.

"Roll Them Dice" shouts former president at charity game aboard luxury liner.

Runyon's Famed Floating Game Outdone

IKE WINS AT CRAP

ABOARD NIEUW AMSTERDAM (AP)—A chap named Eisenhower—Dwight D. Eisenhower—won about $60 shooting crap aboard this luxury vessel early today.

Unconfirmed reports have it that his lady—Mamie—did even better at the roulette tables.

And there were other notables aboard who pitted their skill against lady luck—one governor, a senator, dozens of foreign diplomats and a goodly portion of those whose names appear regularly in the blue book of social lions.

They all did it to fight the cancer which 15 years ago took the life of Damon Runyon—a writer who immortalized the "floating crap game" which had been outdone at last.

The liner left from Hoboken—across the harbor of New Jersey—under sponsorship of the New York City committee of the American Cancer Society which hoped to net $100,000 from the gambling party.

"I just bet on some fellow holding the dice whom I had never seen before and by gosh I came up a winner," said the former president.

The likes of Runyon's seedy characters—Nathan Detroit and Harry the Horse—were evidence by their absence.

In their places were such as the Rockefellers, the Drexels, the Frulingshuysens, the Gerrys and the Huttons.

Each paid $100 for a steak dinner, drinks and the legal right to lose a wad of money.

APPEAL TO UN

'Void Must Be Filled Now'—Rusk

NEW YORK (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk called on the United Nations General Assembly today to name "an outstanding world leader" to take over the powers of UN secretary-general temporarily.

In a statement prepared for a speech he is making here later today, Rusk said "events cannot permit drift and indecision in the leadership of the United Nations."

He declared that the 99-nation General Assembly "must move rapidly to fill the void" created by the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

SOVIETS OPPOSE MOVE

The move was obviously aimed at trying to stir up a powerful drive in the United Nations assembly to "override" Soviet opposition to the appointment of a new UN chief executive.

Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko discussed the UN leadership crisis in a 4½-hour meeting Thursday. Most of their time, however, was spent on the Berlin crisis.

It appeared following their talks that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev must decide in a week or so whether he is willing to negotiate on a Berlin compromise or intends to push his demands closer to the brink of war.

On the UN front of the East-West cold war, Gromyko told Rusk he intends to insist on the appointment of a three-man directorate to take over Hammarskjöld's duties. He is absolutely opposed to any kind of any temporary arrangement, diplomats said.

CHALLENGE TO U.S.

Thus, while the Berlin crisis carries a greater danger of war, the UN dispute presents a more immediate and critical Soviet challenge to the United States.

"It is unfortunately clear," Rusk said, "that an immediate agreement cannot be expected on the naming of a permanent secretary-general. The United States therefore believes that action must be taken now to assure that the functions of office of the secretary-general are performed effectively and fully while agreement is sought on the appointment of a new secretary-general."

"An outstanding world leader should be named immediately to perform the functions of the office of the secretary-general for a temporary period, during which efforts to elect a permanent secretary-general should proceed in accordance with article 97 of the charter."

WILL NOT BARGAIN

Rusk told Gromyko the United States, Britain, France and West Germany want a peaceful solution of the Berlin issue, but that they never will yield to Soviet threats or bargain away their basic rights in the disputed city. Gromyko gave no sign of willingness to modify the Soviet position, but did agree to meet Rusk again next week.

SHORTER TEA BREAK BRINGS STRIKE CALL

LONDON (Reuters)—Shop stewards today ordered 45,000 workers in British Ford car plants out on a wildcat strike next Monday in a dispute arising from a company proposal to cut the morning tea break to less than 10 minutes.

The union leaders objected to a company offer under which the work week would have been cut by 75 minutes to 40 hours a week if union accepted a shorter tea break.

K Will Talk Anytime, But...

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that Russia is ready to negotiate with the United States "at any time, at any place and at any level."

The threat of war has perhaps never been as great in the postwar period as it is now, Khrushchev said. Governments of the western powers are intensifying military preparations in every way, he said.

Khrushchev made the statement in a letter to Indian Prime Minister Nehru. It was the Soviet premier's answer to a message sent him by the non-aligned nations after the recent Belgrade conference. He sent similar letters to other neutralist leaders.

"The Soviet government is ready to participate in talks which are really directed toward the speediest solution of urgent international questions," Khrushchev said, "particularly a peace conference on concluding a German peace treaty and the normalization of the situation in West Berlin."

"The sooner such serious talks, the better."

The Soviet premier said the situation in Europe would be better if countries which have not recognized both German states—the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) and the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany)—would recognize them in fact and establish relations with them.

He also said that both East and West Germany should be admitted to the United Nations. "The Soviet Union always favors the regulation of controversial problems by negotiations," Khrushchev wrote Nehru.

"We also consider that negotiations between states, and particularly between the U.S.S.R. the U.S., as the most powerful and influential states, can and should play an important role in improving the international situation."

'Use Own Means'

(See Page 3)
LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—The Congolese government announced today it would have to resort "to its own means" to put an end to the secession of Katanga province following the cease-fire concluded by the United Nations.

HALT THREATS DE GAULLE TELLS SOVIET

MARSEILLES, France (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle today called on the Russians to stop threatening the West if they really want East-West cold war talks.

He also warned that France will not tolerate the expansion of Soviet domination throughout the free world. Speaking to a crowd of several hundred in this little provincial town on the second day of his "meet-the-people" tour of south-central France, De Gaulle reiterated that France is willing to join in East-West talks on Germany.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)

Katanga provincial police wielding rifle butts and truncheons today dispersed a crowd of several hundred Kasai tribesmen who poured into the centre of Elisabethville seeking food.

The tribesmen were among the 30,000 persons cooped up in a United Nations refugee shantytown. They rode into the city on bicycles and began looting food stores.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The United States bolstered the United Nations force in the Congo today with four big multi-engine transport planes.

Vote Urged On Columbia Versus Peace

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan today challenged Premier Bennett to call an immediate general election on the issue of power development.

Mr. Strachan said the public should decide whether the Columbia River should be developed before the Peace River.

The premier, he said, is "committed to oppose my belief that the general public of B.C. wants the Columbia River developed as soon as possible in co-operation with the federal government."

"An immediate provincial election will let the people have their say."

MAJORITY FOR COLUMBIA

Mr. Strachan added: "I say now that the majority of the people of B.C. want the Columbia River to be developed immediately so that we can provide new industries with cheap power, reduce domestic light bills and rid our province of unemployment."

Mr. Bennett has ordered the newly-acquired crown agency B.C. Electric to proceed immediately with the Peace River project.

He still has not come to terms with the federal government on financing the Columbia. Mr. Bennett wants to sell all its downstream benefits to the U.S.

END THE NONSENSE

Mr. Strachan said the Columbia has become a matter of charge and counter-charge between the B.C. Social Credit government and the Ottawa Conservatives.

"It is time for nonsense to end and common sense to begin," he said.

"Premier Bennett is obviously determined to tie B.C. to the Peace River development, body, soul and pocketbook, irrespective of what it might cost the province in lost industry and high light bills for Peace River power."

"The facts presently available indicate that the Columbia River can provide B.C. with lower-cost power than can the Peace River power proposals."

"I am saying it is time for governments to stop placing political expediency ahead of the future of our province."

'STANDBY' CALL READIED AS CONGRESS TO RISE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy began a 10-day absence from Washington today after assuring congressional leaders he would inform them immediately of any serious change in the world situation after Congress adjourns, possibly Saturday.

He will spend the weekend at his summer home on Cape Cod and fly to New York Sunday night to address a Monday session of the UN General Assembly.

OTTAWA SPORTS AID SEEN AS MORALE BOOSTER

Canada to Produce More Champions

Opposition Leader Pearson said achievement in international amateur sports does something for a nation's morale and prestige.

Mr. Pearson said the program will have to be carefully administered to make sure federal assistance is not directed to professional bodies. It was difficult today to define amateur sports.

There was less interest today in participating in amateur sports than in watching professional sports.

Mr. Monteth said there has been a far-reaching impact on Canadian thinking by the Duke of Edinburgh's remark that Canadians are not as fit as they might be.

"There seems to be no doubt," the minister said, "that participation in amateur sport and recreational activities does have a beneficial effect on an individual's well-being, particularly with respect to his emotional and social outlook."

Mr. Monteth said the program will include:

1. Great assistance to teams participating in sports meets at home and abroad.
2. Support for expansion of facilities to train coaches.
3. Bursaries and fellowships to improve the competence of persons connected with fitness and sport.
4. Support for research.
5. Fitting recognition for outstanding achievement.

Explosive Red China Issue Gets UN Debate

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—After 10 years of on-the-shelf treatment, the explosive issue of whether Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations was assured today of a full-scale debate before the General Assembly for the first time.

DECISION to debate the issue of seating Red China in the UN gets angry reception from Nationalist China delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang.

The 16th assembly's steering committee Thursday night accepted two proposals—one Western and one sponsored by Russia—that the 99-member world body debate the Red China issue.

"But each proposal had different goals. The United States, which backed the Western resolution, wants to keep Peking out of the UN and Moscow wants to bring in its Chinese ally."

The balance of power in the voting may rest with the new African states, some of whom are friendly toward Peking.

By a vote of 15-to-0 with five abstentions the 21-member committee approved a New Zealand proposal supported by the U.S. and Britain calling for debate on "the question of representation of China in the United Nations."

By a vote of 7 to 3 with 10 abstentions the committee Continued on Page 26

WIRE BRIEFS

(See Page 2)

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Police reported today that seven persons were killed and 37 wounded in a rash of anti-government violence since Thursday night.

Another Red Test?

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—The Uppsala seismological institute today registered a disturbance it said could be a new Russian nuclear blast near Novaya Zemlya in the Arctic.

More 'Goofballs'

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Monteth told the Commons today he would look into reports there has been an increase in forged prescriptions for "goofballs" since federal legislation to control their use was passed earlier this year.

UN Transfer Backed

WASHINGTON (CP)—West German Ambassador Wilhelm G. Grewe said today he would agree with Prime Minister Diefenbaker's suggestion to give the whole of Berlin an international status only if it would mean the transfer of the United Nations headquarters to that divided city.

Mister Strachan wants an election campaign of Hall Columbia, followed by Peace Perfect Peace.

That three-man set-up th' Russkies want t' run th' UN c'd turn out t' be like th' Wooden Horse o' Troika.

Guess money ain't th' only thing th' Arena has lost in its time.

B.C. POWER SERVES PETITION ON GOV'T

'Tempest' in a Teacup—Bennett

Two lawyers Thursday served a petition of right on the provincial government, B.C. Power Corporation's bid to sue for better compensation in the B.C. Electric takeover.

The petition was given to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black at 1.15 p.m., an hour and a quarter earlier than a prearranged appointment.

The power corporation, which wants to sue the crown to get $225,000,000 compensation for common stock in the private B.C. Electric, was represented by its own lawyer, D. M. Goldie, and Alan McEachern of the Vancouver firm Russell and Dumoulin.

UP TO CABINET

Mr. Black said the petition had been turned over to the attorney-general's department for study.

Final decision is made by the cabinet in such cases.

Mr. Black said he would inform today's meeting at Campbell River of the move, but he said he did not know when the cabinet would discuss it.

Premier Bennett had no direct comment to make on the attempt to sue the government.

'PRESSURE GROUPS'

Mr. Bennett repeated his earlier assertion that "outside a few circles—little pressure groups" there has been no great opposition to the takeover or its terms.

He said that financial leaders in Paris, Brussels and London "understand the situation."

Reports from eastern Canada and New York confirmed that investment people there "recognize there was no other thing to do," he said.

Mr. Bennett said the takeover price was set before any damage was done to the stock market value of B.C. Electric shares.

The international sources that he quoted approved the payment of $110,985,045 as compensation for B.C. Electric com-

Algeria Rebels Seize TV, Fire Tirade at De Gaulle

(CP from AP-Reuters)

ALGIERS (AP)—A French rightist underground army knocked out Algiers' television with high explosives Thursday night, seized the air waves, threatened President Charles de Gaulle and called for a mass demonstration today.

"De Gaulle, it is you who will disappear, you who will fall," declared a voice over the audio frequency as TV screens in Algiers homes fluttered black and white lines.

The broadcast was made over the Algiers television sound channel by leaders of the outlawed Secret Army Organization OAS after the TV transmission centre at Cap Matifou, 15 miles east of the city was seized and sabotaged.

A clandestine transmitter was then used to break in on the TV wavelength, but whether the broadcast was live or taped was not known.

Fugitive former Gen. Raoul Salan, under the death sentence for leading the April military putsch here, called for the demonstration against de Gaulle and his policy of self-determination for Algeria.

The call came as de Gaulle toured south central France and said in a speech he was confident that "an Algerian Algeria will co-operate with France."

CUT PROGRAM

The rebels cut off a program showing de Gaulle on his grass roots—tour where he also criticized these same terrorist tactics—"these agitations, these pretensions, these crimes."

Salan, who was introduced on the 30-minute private broadcast

as "commander-in-chief" of the OAS in Algeria and metropolitan France, delivered a five-minute tirade against de Gaulle.

He said: "All Algerians must consider themselves mobilized" against the president.

Esther Heads Out to Sea

NEW YORK (AP)—Hurricane Esther dwindled away and headed off out to sea today. Her centre never touched the American mainland.

The maritime provinces, on the alert for any big blow, were told to expect winds of only 40 mph and a fair amount of rainfall.

West Berliners Cool To UN Transfer Plan

BERLIN (AP)—The idea of transferring UN headquarters to this troubled city leaves most West Berliners cool.

Most people asked about it had no confidence that bringing the world body here from New York would bring peace. Some went so far as to point to The Congo and suggest the UN presence in Berlin might lead to more trouble.

Both East and West have floated informal suggestions that the transfer here of the UN might be a way out of the impasse over Berlin.

Izvestia, the official Soviet government newspaper, endorsed the idea this week as worth considering. Premier Khrushchev has intimated he would support the idea if the Western Allies quit the city.

On the Western side Konrad Adenauer, the chancellor of West Germany, has called it "a bold proposal" that might ease tension over Berlin.

His political rival, Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin,

however, thought the project "not very realistic." He insisted any UN plan would have to include both West Berlin and the Communist East sector, now sealed off behind a wall.

What does the Berliner-in-the-street think?

Some businessmen thought the stimulus to tourism and the arrival of highly paid diplomats would give the economy a shot in the arm. But most people feared that in the long run the Communists would be able to twist the situation to their advantage.

IN PARLIAMENT

Prorogation Due
Late Next Week

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—Canada's longest session of Parliament apparently is going to end next week.

The government leader in the Commons, Veterans' Affairs Minister Churchill, gave a broad hint of this just before the House rose Thursday night following a day spent mostly on considering estimates of the labor department. It was the 168th day of the current session.

He told MPs a decision will be made by noon today whether the Commons was to sit Saturday. If the House sat Saturday, he said, it might finish its work by next Thursday.

And if it did not sit Saturday—it might still finish Thursday.

There was joyful laughter among MPs anxious to wind up the long-drawn-out session which began last Nov. 17, and has continued without interruption except for the Christmas and Easter holidays and a seven-week break during the summer.

Included in the new facilities already approved were nine institutes of technology, 11 trade schools and 69 vocational schools. Together with enlargements of existing schools, these would provide accommodation for an additional 30,000 students.

Paul Martin (L—Essex East) and Walter Pitman (NDP—Peterborough) criticized the government for not providing more direction to the provinces and municipalities in the actual retraining of unemployed workers.

Mr. Starr replied that the problem of just how courses should be constituted comes under provincial jurisdiction—and the prerogative was claimed by the provinces "more jealously guarded by the provinces than any other."

Liberal Contentions Challenged

Mr. Starr challenged Liberal contentions that Canadian unemployment is the highest in the western world.

The United States had 6.2 per cent of its labor force unemployed between July and August, he said. The figure was compiled in a way similar to the calculation which showed Canadian unemployment in August was 4.8 per cent of the labor force.

Mr. Starr also said the government is in the process of creating 1,000,000 new jobs over a period of four to five years. He said about 500,000 of those jobs have been created since the Conservative government took office in mid-1957.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) said that despite the glowing picture drawn by BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Paul Hellyer, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto Trinity, opened the Canadian Young Liberal Association convention here Thursday with a suggestion that labor might be controlled in the same manner that management is controlled under the federal combines commission.

He suggested to the 200 delegates from across Canada that trade unionism in Canada "must exercise its influence in such a way as not to be to the detriment of the consumers."

He said one manner in which this might be accomplished could be through a "proper schedule of minimum wages."

"In the long run a fair schedule of minimum wages" would be more satisfactory and less costly than the alternative.

The alternative he suggested would be the collection through taxation of large sums of money and then its "disbursement."

DISCREPANCIES EXIST

He said while the highly organized sections of society have been maintaining and improving their relative position the unorganized have not.

In a press conference following his speech, Mr. Hellyer expanded on this theme.

He said it was his "personal and provocative" consideration that the discrepancy between wages in the various areas of the economy should be lessened as a means of setting the stage for drawing a national production.

Cease-Fire in Katanga Puts Squeeze on Adoula

CP From AP-Reuters

LEOPOLDVILLE—The UN Congo command today adopted a posture of military neutrality after its bold stroke to put down Katanga's secession by a show of strength ended in bloodshed and a cease-fire.

The cease-fire in the break-away province caught Premier Cyrille Adoula in a squeeze that could create a cabinet crisis in the central government set up with UN backing to unite the country. Associated Press correspondent Dennis Need reported.

The 39-year-old Adoula, an anti-Communist, nationalist, was under strong pressure from leftists he succeeded in bringing under his wing to take up the struggle from the UN in moving against Katanga.

Fresh shouts of defiance came from Gen. Masako Norbert Muke, newly appointed military chief of Katanga, who said in the Katangan capital of Elisabethville that the truce is only temporary. He charged the UN command intends to break the truce. The United Nations denied the charge.

Only sporadic outbursts of gunfire in Katanga broke the quiet in the first 24 hours of the cease-fire, but the outlook was filled with uncertainty.

Tunisian diplomat Mahmoud Khari, chief of UN civilian operations in the Congo who negotiated the cease-fire with President Moise Tshombe of Katanga told reporters Thursday: "Katanga's secession is purely the internal affair of the Congolese."

Many Western and neutralist diplomats viewed the agreement ending eight days of bitter fighting as an about-face by the UN but Khari said: "We wanted to stop the senseless bloodshed."

Held for No Gain

THE CEASE-FIRE AGREEMENT in Katanga province finds the situation much as it was before. The United Nations troops have not left Katanga as Moise Tshombe wished them to do, and the province is still remaining separate from the rest of The Congo—a condition which the UN sought to remedy.

The unfortunate death of Dag Hammarskjöld left negotiations in the air. The present UN spokesman on the scene must wait for further instructions from the UN secretariat in New York. And meanwhile the secessionist government of Mr. Tshombe holds its own against the pressure to federate. It continues to assert Katanga's "right of self-determination," although this right is not recognized outside of his territory.

The recent UN military operation in Katanga has been widely misunderstood. It was back in February that the Security Council of the United Nations passed a resolution for "the immediate withdrawal and evacuation from The Congo of all Belgian and other foreign military and para-military personnel and political advisers not under the United Nations command, and mercenaries."

It was six months before the measure could be enforced, and that was the task of the Irish and Swedish UN troops sent to Katanga. They were not "invaders" or "aggressors." They were merely the official police force carrying out a directive of the global peace organization.

The cause of this directive was the presence of some 500 European officers and NCOs serving with the armed forces of President Tshombe. More than 200 of them were known to be Belgian regulars, and they formed the core of a force designed to carry out the ambitions of Moise Tshombe, and the intentions of those interests which will profit by keeping Katanga's rich mineral resources out of the control of the struggling Congo government.

The Katanga army itself numbers about 12,000, and it was not planned to disband these troops provided they remained under native officers. The latter were even to be reinforced for administrative purposes by French-speaking officers transferred by the UN.

Thus it was merely the foreign element that was to be removed—and with them a prime cause of the Katanga problem.

The removal of the foreign mercenaries—the French element of whom Mr. Hammarskjöld referred to as "the dregs and residue of Algeria"—was only part of the United Nations resolution. The overall program was to unite The Congo and "restore parliamentary institutions" in that country.

The military operation appears to have been abortive. It has roused Katangan opposition without achieving its purposes—even though Mr. Tshombe four weeks ago announced himself as willing "to bow before the decisions of the United Nations." It was his quick switch from this attitude that precipitated the fighting.

The picture remains obscure but at least a cease-fire is in effect and the way is open to further negotiation—though in an atmosphere made even cooler by the recent regrettable casualty lists.

The Travelling Salesman

MR. DIEFENBAKER'S PLANS to visit Japan next month are interpreted as ruling out a general election this year. But the Prime Minister may well find himself on the hustings in Japan, for he will have a sizable selling job to do on his hosts.

He will have to persuade them that they should continue to buy Canadian goods, and in greater quantities, while Canada imposes restrictions on the goods they sell to this country.

It is said that the restrictions are "voluntary." But that is merely a diplomatic figment; Japanese exporters send less to Canada than they could because the Canadian government has made it plain that they must.

Ottawa's action has two chief results. It restricts the goods which Canadians would like to buy from Japan—and in many fields Canadian consumers can make welcome savings on such purchases. And it cuts down the supply of dollars with which Japanese consumers could buy Canadian goods, thus limiting our own sales to that country.

Mr. Diefenbaker no doubt has this all satisfactorily explained to himself. He hasn't quite put the idea across to the Canadian public, but now he will attempt to justify it to Japanese listeners. The Japanese, of course, are extraordinarily polite, but...

Ring-Around-a-Rosy

ONCE AGAIN PARLIAMENT has talked out a private member's bill to amend the divorce law of Canada.

The distinction in the present case is that the bill has come up twice in one session—only because the session has lasted so long that the issue referred to the foot of the list revolved to the top again.

For obvious political reasons and for some of broader base, changes in the legislation are difficult to effect. For one thing, many people favoring amendment have very different views on what the amendments should be.

But Parliament cannot continue to duck the issue indefinitely. As it stands now the divorce law is an admitted encouragement of hypocrisy, deceit, collusion and perjury. The way in which marriages are dissolved in those provinces where divorce courts operate far too frequently brings the court and processes of law into disrepute.

Cases emerging from Quebec and Newfoundland and referred to Parliament create an inexcusable waste of parliamentary time and money and, all too often, too heavy a financial drain on those petitioning for divorce.

Members of Parliament know all this. Many admit in private their recognition of the need for amendment, at least to the point of broadening grounds for dissolution of marriage from the repulsive essentials now in the law. Something more humane is required, they admit.

But when the matter comes before Parliament the same old routine is followed. The private member's bill is introduced, debated and talked out.

How much longer can this procedure be countenanced?

HOW TO TRAVEL THOUGH ANCHORED

By B. A. TOBIN

Views of the Unchanging Change of Scene

EVERYBODY is travelling these days—and everybody wants to tell everybody else all about it. No period in history has seen so many individuals wandering about the globe—professional wanderers, amateur travellers, purposeful voyagers, aimless drifters—and about ninety per cent of them believe that the folks back home want to hear how they like it. That's a healthful sign, of course. And it doesn't work out so badly since ninety per cent of the ninety per cent never get around to putting their impressions down on paper.

But the thought occurs that with so many wanderers writing for the public prints—daily, weekly or monthly—it might be real news if somebody who isn't going anywhere at all were to write dispatches too.

An approved style would have to be followed, of course—and there are several choices. There are the cool, detached observations of the seasoned traveller who from his wealth of experience can dredge up interesting comparisons and analogies. There is the jumping-for-joy enthusiasm of the newcomer to the game, whose breathless pleasure pours out onto the sheet of paper at length. There is the technical type of tourist, who likes to get everything down accurately and in order, but ends up as dull as a guide book. And there is the average-joe type, who isn't interested in very much but likes to keep moving, and secretly believes that one place is pretty much like another when you come right down to it.

Reverse Trend

But the thought occurs that with so many wanderers writing for the public prints—daily, weekly or monthly—it might be real news if somebody who isn't going anywhere at all were to write dispatches too.

An approved style would have to be followed, of course—and there are several choices. There are the cool, detached observations of the seasoned traveller who from his wealth of experience can dredge up interesting comparisons and analogies. There is the jumping-for-joy enthusiasm of the newcomer to the game, whose breathless pleasure pours out onto the sheet of paper at length. And there is the average-joe type, who isn't interested in very much but likes to keep moving, and secretly believes that one place is pretty much like another when you come right down to it.

Thus, operating only in his own bailiwick, the non-travelling tourist might produce something like this: "For those who like the off-beat and quaint I can recommend a visit to Doakes' bar, to be found down a side street in Victoria, a tourist haven on the Pacific coast. Sitting in the colorful pub, it is not hard to recall similar hideaways in Singapore, Cairo, Marseilles, Port Said, and even parts of Soho. But

For Example

Thus, operating only in his own bailiwick, the non-travelling tourist might produce something like this: "For those who like the off-beat and quaint I can recommend a visit to Doakes' bar, to be found down a side street in Victoria, a tourist haven on the Pacific coast. OTHER SIDE

It's a bore being asked where one is going, though it's no bother to say where one has been.

—Elizabeth Bowen.

Doakes' has a flavor all its own. The native plywood walls, the hand-laid rubber tile floor, the constant flow of quaint home-town characters, create an environment unmatched even in the pubs of Belfast, the bistros of Capri, or the cellar establishments on the Left Bank. If you are lucky, you may lure Joe Doakes himself to your table to tell you his story.

And so on. Or, in the second style: "This is a never-to-be-forgotten paradise for tourists. There are so many wonderful attractions it is impossible to sort them all out. But I must tell you of the simply marvelous little eating place I found today. Tucked away on a side street of this quaint little city, I found a tea room—yes, a real tea room! The most lovely, cultured woman was in charge—I'm just certain she must be a duchess or a countess or something in reduced circumstances. And of course I ordered tea and crumpets! You just have to taste them to believe them."

Or perhaps: "A visit to this small seaport and tourist resort is worth one's time. The largest community on the island, it records a total population of 129,837, although this is broken up into several different local government areas. A small trade with transpacific ports is carried on, and the harbor is a centre for commercial fishermen and ferry transports. Some woodworking industries are to be found.

And finally, like the fellow who writes home, not very accurately, and is ready to forget it all anyway when he moves on to the next place: "You can come to Vancouver, the capital of Victoria Island, by boat or plane. The streets are very nice. The people are nice too. The food is good and there is some good scenery. Nice and sunny, they tell me it isn't always sunny. Really very nice here."

You don't have to leave home to write that sort of travelogue. The problem is to get somebody far away who will publish it. And the farther away the better.

As Our Readers See It

Take Off Tax

With the take-over of the B.C.E.R. by the provincial government, Mr. Bennett and his cabinet should forthwith take action to cancel the 5 per cent taxes on electricity, gas and telephones to business and householders, all hard pressed due to costs and the ability to make ends meet.

The federal sales tax now amounts to 11 per cent on almost everything and there is no real reason why the 5 per cent taxes should be maintained. The City of Victoria does not tax on water, which is also quite high. We look to the provincial government to relieve a situation that is almost out of hand, the general cost of living being so very high.

In all my life I have never read of such hatred as was written about Nancy Hanks Road, named after (the writer thought) Abraham Lincoln's mother, Nancy Hanks.

Even if so, why not? I am a Canadian but have always had great admiration for Abraham Lincoln. Abe must have had a wonderful mother. As we all know he came from a very lowly home. Much love must have been in that home.

No wonder the world is in such an upset these days. A little more love and kindness to one another, regardless of race or creed and we would indeed have a world worth living in.

"CONCERNED"

The Crisis Is Beyond All Precedent, the Most Difficult That Has Ever Faced the UN

By MAX FREEDMAN

THE only memorial worth building to the late Secretary-General Hammarskjöld is a United Nations that is truly working as an effective guardian of world peace. His loss at any time would be a tragedy. Coming now, when so many issues threaten the peace, it can easily become a disaster unless the wisdom and courage of world statesmanship rally to the United Nations. This is a time for wise action, not for lamentation.

Freedman

The crisis is beyond all precedent, the most difficult that has ever faced the United Nations. It is because he has recognized that fact that President Kennedy has decided to address the General Assembly and to appeal for increased support for the principles of the charter.

Originally the president had intended to make his speech turn on the discussion of disarmament. That theme will still be present; but the president will be more eager to reaffirm the devotion of the United States to the United Nations.

Other governments must do the same if Russia's attempt to wreck the United Nations is to be defeated. The secretary-general is appointed under the charter on the recommendation of a majority of the Security Council with none of the five permanent members—Russia, the United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China—using a veto.

This recommendation must then be endorsed by a two-thirds vote of the General Assembly. The charter neither states how the successor should be chosen to a secretary who dies in office (the present problem) nor how long a secretary-general may continue in office beyond his normal term if no agreement can be reached on his successor (the problem with Trygve Lie).

In 1950 the Communist bloc had broken all relations with Mr. Trygve Lie as secretary-general because they believed he had helped to organize the resistance to aggression in Korea. It proved impossible to agree on anyone else to become the secretary-general.

On November 1, 1950, the General Assembly passed a resolution continuing Mr. Lie in office for another three years. That resolution was passed by a vote of 46 to 5 with eight abstentions.

Although it solved the immediate crisis, that decision did not really give Mr. Lie effective power. His authority rested on the General Assembly alone; his decisions could always be vetoed in the Security Council by Russia; and he was boycotted by all the Communist nations.

These are the limitations of the precedent. Its value, in present circumstances, is that it provides the only precedent for showing that the General Assembly can act at all—in default of action by the Security Council—in defining the powers of the secretary-general and in choosing a man to fill that office. This precedent, adjusted to today's needs, may yet be decisive in helping the United Nations to work its way out of the current anxieties.

The first adjustment of this precedent seems to have failed. An attempt was made by several nations to have Mr. Slim, the Tunisian delegate scheduled to become the new president of the General Assembly, also serve as interim secretary-general for one year until a new head of the world organization could be elected next year.

This plan was dropped (though it may be revived later) when Mr. Slim himself proved reluctant to accept this responsibility and when his government, still engaged in a major dispute with France, suggested that it would be unwise to have its representative identified so closely with the United Nations when President de Gaulle is so critical of that organization.

Still another plan was then considered. Its sponsor was Ghana. The plan involved the appointment of three under-secretaries who each would serve for three months, on a rotating basis, as secretary-general. The officials suggested for this assignment are Mr. Narasimhan of India representing the African-Asian nations; Mr. Arkadev of Russia representing the Communist bloc; and Mr. Ralph Bunche or Mr. Andrew Cordier of the United States representing the western nations.

The United States is skeptical of this plan partly because it is no more than a variant of Mr. Khrushchev's "troika" proposal and partly because it contains no assurance that one secretary-general could not undo the work of his predecessor in the previous three months.

There would either be three vetoes in the secretariat—the essential purpose of the "troika" plan—or else there would be no stability of policy.

Before the United States could reject this plan with finality, it was spurned by Mr. Gromyko, the foreign minister of the Soviet Union. He said it did not go far enough in embracing Russia's "troika" plan under which the Communist states would each name one secretary-general and no decision could be taken unless all three secretaries-general accepted it.

Mr. Gromyko also was opposed to giving Mr. Slim, the new president of the assembly, or Mr. Bokrand, the retiring president, special powers to act for one year in the office of secretary-general.

He said that Russia would vote against such a grant of authority to any one man, even if he were a citizen of the Soviet Union.

Mr. Hammarskjöld by his conduct in The Congo, according to Mr. Gromyko, had shown that no international official could be trusted to act with impartiality. Therefore Russia would continue to insist on the appointment of three secretaries-general, each armed with equal power and able to prevent all action by a veto.

Despite the firmness of Russia's rejection of Ghana's initiative, the suspicion persists that Mr. Gromyko at present is pressing Russia's extreme demands and in the end will be content to accept some modification of the troika proposal.

That is indeed the great danger. Russia may be so inflexible that other nations may accept a diluted troika proposal as the only way out of the crisis. It must be remembered at every stage of this crisis that any acceptance at all of the troika principle will mean a massive and perhaps irretrievable defeat for the western nations. For Russia will use its first victory as the signal for another campaign to demoralize and destroy the independence of the secretariat; and if it has begun by weakening the powers of the secretary-general, it will find it comparatively easy to carry out the rest of its wrecking operation. Do not discount the incredible obstinacy of the Russian campaign. The Russian delegate at the Security Council refused to join in the resolution of condolence on the death of Mr. Hammarskjöld if that resolution were taken to imply sorrow at the death of the secretary-general rather than at the death of one man.

To those extremes of inhumanity have Russian leaders swung in their campaign against Mr. Hammarskjöld. Not even death itself stills their brutal tongues.

President Kennedy and Secretary of State-Rusk are urging the smaller countries to take the lead in saving the United Nations from destruction. Most of the nations at the Belgrade conference of neutrals supported Mr. Hammarskjöld and opposed the troika principle. Now is their chance to act on these principles.

The United States is reluctant to make this issue yet another direct clash between American and Russian influence at the United Nations. But President Kennedy will not hesitate to give the order for a massive campaign by the United States to line up votes for its own plan, to be disclosed later, if the smaller and neutral nations prove unequal to the challenge.

The president is determined that the United Nations will not be destroyed because of lack of effective American leadership in this crisis at the General Assembly.

Down to Earth—and in It

SEVERAL years ago I attended a special newspapermen's course in Civil Defence at Airpior. The idea, at the time, was to familiarize some of us in the business with the arrangements the Canadian Government was making to try to assure survival of some citizens in the event of atomic war.

Stott

The emphasis then was on plans to get people out of cities that were declared target areas. Victoria was a target area.

The course was highly informative and depressing. I shall never look back upon it in the rosy glow of school-day retrospect, though the association with other newspapermen was pleasant.

When I came home I told my story in print. But even in the telling, I had the uneasy feeling that if the bomb fell, the only way Victoria people could disperse was upward. It seemed to me that the Island Highway provided a very narrow and chancy way of getting out of town and I foresaw clogging and immobility from Goldstream south.

At the same time, the information I had gathered gave me what I considered an excellent case to present to the chancellor of our family exchequer.

"Look," I said to her, "if things blow up, we ought to have a decent boat. The trip up-island doesn't look so promising to me. Now, if we had a reasonably good boat we could provision it and when the warning came, we could pile aboard and head away east, south or west."

"Besides that," I pointed out, "I could keep the thing in good running order by using it for fishing out here. We'd always have an escape craft and something that could provide excellent recreation even if it were never called into use for an emergency."

The chancellor of our exchequer seemed singularly unimpressed. She's strictly a Shawnigan Lake sailor.

"If this thing happens," she said, "I'll take my chances with the bomb against the kind of water you have out there. Look at it now," and she pointed to the Strait where a cheerful sou'easter was whipping up a few whitecaps. "Me go out on that? Are you nuts? No. We'll stick to dispersal on land. You can work a little more on the shack at Shawnigan. Then, if nothing happens, we'll have a better place up there."

"Furthermore, if you want a better boat for fishing, be a man and come right out with the request. You're not fooling anybody with this Civil Defence argument for marine departure."

So we concentrated on the dispersal scheme by adding to the place at Shawnigan.

One of my best-publicized secrets on the Shawnigan development is the hole I've been digging there. I'm beginning to think I started it a few days after Douglas landed at Clover Point. In the last century, my progress hasn't been rapid. In the monotony of the toil, I've forgotten why I started to excavate for a basement under the shack.

But recent Civil Defence thinking may have given it new significance. The CD people are back to the shelter idea again. Dispersal has gone up the ramp.

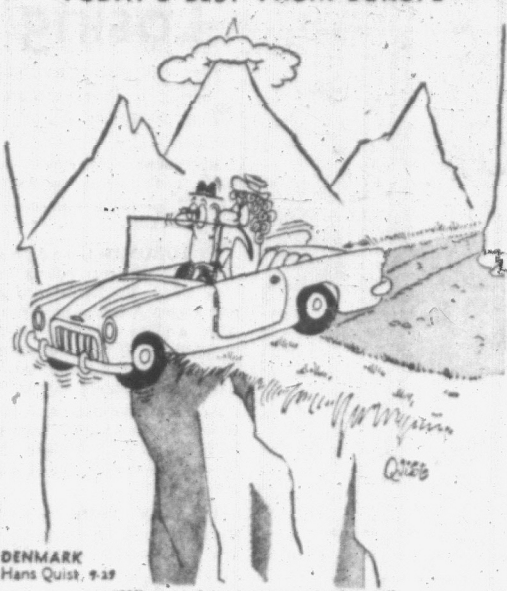

So perhaps, with unconscious foresight, I've been working on an air-raid shelter up there. As I peck my way, once by once, into the hardpan, I'm probably creating a magnificent survival bunker.

The thought so impressed me that I asked the chancellor of our exchequer if she'd like to subsidize the work, sort of provide funds for additional labor and material.

She had a counter proposal. "Why not make inquiries at the provincial and federal offices and see if they wouldn't like to construct a model shelter up there? If they do, then see that there's room in it for the canoe and these shovels, picks, saws, levels and squares that you keep in what we hope will be our living room some day. Just don't call it a basement—but make it act like one."

Which leaves me with an air raid shelter problem, a basement problem and pick in hand pecking away at hardpan.

Provincial Autonomy Bid by Quebec Group

QUEBEC (CP)—The issue of provincial autonomy, for 25 years the battle-cry of the Union Nationale, likely will continue to be the key plank in the party's platform.

Now, however, it may be taken a step further with a group in the party calling for recognition of Quebec's right to self-determination.

A draft resolution by the party's Quebec County Association asks recognition of this claimed right and suggests the Union Nationale work towards "a revision of the constitution so that Quebec can enjoy all the powers of sovereignty necessary for its fulfillment."

While not suggesting Quebec secede, the group from a Quebec City area riding long a hotbed for French-Canadian nationalism claims that the province could drop out of Confederation if it wants.

The draft resolution, scheduled to be studied by the leadership convention's committee on constitutional matters, had the effect of a bombshell.

Of the six leadership candidates two were available for comment.

Daniel Johnson, 46, member for Bagot and former hydraulic resources minister, declined to comment until he has studied the proposal.

Jean-Jacques Bertrand, 45, member for Missisquoi and former youth and welfare minister, said he believes Quebec must remain within Confederation, but at the same time must work toward acquiring the powers necessary for Quebec's French-Canadian to "blossom out" within the framework of Confederation.

"There is nothing against asking and working towards more powers," he said. "I believe that all this can be worked out peacefully."

Mr. Bertrand and Mr. Johnson appear to be neck-and-neck run-away candidates for the leadership.

The other candidates are Yves Gabias, 40, member for Trois-Rivières; Mayor Armand Nadeau, 51, of Sherbrooke, Que.; Maurice S. Hebert, 36, Montreal lawyer; and Raymond Maher, 40, Quebec City lawyer.

Court Frees Cuban Ships

OTTAWA (UPI)—The Exchequer Court of Canada Thursday freed seven Cuban ships seized by a Detroit firm in a breach of contract suit with the Cuban government.

The ships were sold to the Banco Cubano del Comercio Exterior in 1958 by the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships, a publicly-owned company. The Browning Lines, Inc., entered into an agreement with the Cuban bank to operate the ships.

The Exchequer Court ruled that the ships, sold by the bank to the Cuban government in 1960, were government property and had immunity.

'Subsistence Level' Scored by Douglas

CALGARY (CP)—Canada will continue to have recessions and economic declines as long as one-third of its wage-earners live at a "subsistence level," Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas said Thursday.

Mr. Douglas, first leader of the New Democratic Party, told the Women's Canadian Club here 2,000,000 of Canada's 6,000,000 income earners last year were not paid enough to qualify for income tax.

They were an example, Mr. Douglas said, of the country's failure to adjust to a period of scientific and technological revolution.

Man has learned to provide goods and services, but not to distribute them, he said. It is not only a humanitarian concern, but an economic concern

Socialists Plan Election Drive

LONDON—Looking ahead to the next election (on the basis that election spade-work must start at least two years before-hand) there are arguments within the Labor Party as to how their propaganda should be handled.

One faction is going all out on the idea that a public relations firm should be called in to sell Socialism to the public.

They point to the success the Conservatives achieved by hiring the PR firm of Goleman, Prentice and Varley.

Though they didn't necessarily win the election for the Tories, there's no question that their evolving such slogans as "You've never had it so good" and "Don't let Labor ruin it" was of immense help in getting the Tory story across.

But the diehards within the Labor Party are dead against the proposal. Their view is that it is a party of the workingman and sickness and the soft-sell would just serve to get him and his family's backs up.

Better, they say, to appoint a director of publicity drawn from the solid ranks of the party, rather than dabble with outside specialists in propaganda.

Whether the more progressive party members win out over the diehards will be decided at a conference but if they do there's a stumbling block ahead of them.

If they settle for hiring a PR outfit, their choice of firms is going to be limited. They won't find the eagerness to take on the job that the Tories encountered.

Since it goes without saying that public relations firms are primarily concerned with big business, they'd naturally be reluctant to be associated with Socialism.

The Rank organization, once the biggest in film production here, seems to feel now that rock bottom has been reached in the movie-going decline. Compared to five years ago, when commercial TV started, attendances at cinemas having dropped from 1.101 million annually to 520 million and the number of cinemas from 4,291 to 3,100.

HOME GARDEN

Why Bother to Harvest 'Duds?'

By JACK BEASTALL

It would indeed surprise the neighbors if a home gardener left sound and healthy fruits hanging on his trees over winter. We expect perfect fruits to be harvested and stored, not left to perish in frosts, winds, rain and snow.

To see damaged and diseased fruits hanging from the bare limb is not so surprising. They were useless from the beginning so why bother to harvest them?

The only ones who might shudder at the sight would be an entomologist or a plant pathologist, a bug man or a plant disease man respectively.

To either of them it is far more important that the damaged and diseased fruits be gathered than it is to harvest the good ones.

THEY SPREAD

Diseased fruits, hanging from the branches or lying on the ground, carry spores which will spread to the crop in the succeeding season. Damaged fruits may contain the grubs of insects which will produce the egg-laying moths the next spring.

Little is gained from the use of sprays unless sanitary practices are also part of the fall clean-up program. All diseased and damaged fruits should be gathered and disposed of in a manner that will ensure complete destruction of the pest or the disease.

Commercial orchardists have long known the value of such sanitary practices as part of their overall fight to obtain a larger percentage of marketable fruits, and home gardeners should be able to obtain a greater number of perfect fruits with less spraying by following their example.

Chum Run Strong
VANCOUVER (CP) — Reports here indicate an encouraging run of chum salmon on the east coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands this week, where chum fishing has reopened after four years closure. Forty seiners and 30 gillnetters caught 30,000 fish, which fisheries officials said is a good omen for the future of the run.

Oil Values Said Due for Big Gain

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

An extraordinarily bullish estimate of the value potential of western Canada oil stocks was delivered by J. A. Ross, vice-president and treasurer of Shell Oil of Canada in a speech to the Toronto Security Analysts Association this week.

Mr. Ross said he personally looked for an increase of 25 per cent in the Toronto Stock Exchange oil index during the next year. Further increases after that would be on a much smaller scale.

Mr. Ross based his prediction on achievement of the National Oil Policy goal of 800,000 barrels daily production by 1963 which would be an increase in volume of 45 per cent over a three-year period.

After the 35 per cent growth period, however, producers would have to be content with normal market growth expected to average about 4 per cent a year.

Mr. Ross touched on a point which has been stressed often by this column—that the increase in production of natural gas liquids will be disproportionate to the crude oil and gas liquids total, and will tend to scale down the crude increase. In other words, producers depending primarily on crude oil will not be good bets to share heavily in the benefits of the national oil policy.

Other factors listed by Mr. Ross as tending to push up the western oil index were increased revenues for natural gas for some companies and recently increased prices for crude.

"The market has taken all these things with remarkable calm," Mr. Ross said. "Profits today are not the oil criterion of success in the oil industry and if companies use their cash flows to boost petroleum reserves, this is money in the bank."

Public participation in a new discount operation in Ottawa is to be invited soon. W. C. Pitfield and company Ltd. will offer 300,000 no par value shares of Shoppers City Ltd. at $5.

Part of the proceeds will be used to acquire and equip the first Shoppers City combination discount department store and food market now nearing completion. Expansion of the operation to other points is expected after the first store goes into operation.

Two widely-experienced merchandisers will manage the-operation. M. Loeb Ltd. on the food end and A. J. Freeman Ltd. on the department store.

Just back from her first visit to her native Perth in 36 years, Victoria Mrs. Susan Hartley says city council should follow the example of that city when it comes to reclaiming run-down city centre areas.

Mrs. Hartley arrived in Perth just as that city's new St. John's Square civic centre development was opened and, she declares, it was an impressive example of what can be done in reclamation of a slum area.

The project covers three acres, contains 27 houses, nearly 19,000 square feet of office space and 12 shops, and is planned around open spaces with lawns and flowerbeds. Total cost was just $250,000.

Grain Shipments Show Decrease

LONDON (CP)—Some 79,500,000 bushels of grain were shipped from the Hudson Bay port of Churchill, Man., during the 1960 season, the annual report of the Commonwealth shipping committee on Hudson Bay marine insurance rates has announced.

Forty-eight ships were loaded at Churchill, 10 fewer than in 1959 when a record 21,768,500 bushels were shipped. In 1958, 55 ships loaded 19,913,000 bushels.

The report referred to delays caused by ships waiting for berth space, but says the committee expects additional berthage facilities will be ready by the start of the 1962 season.

"GETTING IT AT WOODWARD'S IS YOUR BEST GUARANTEE"

70% 'Recovery Average' Hit by New Haven

By HAL JONES

Over the past several years the B.C. Borstal Association has had several hundred delinquent young men pass through its New Haven Institution in Vancouver.

More than 70 per cent have become good citizens. The experts say rehabilitation can only be successfully achieved where intense personal supervision is provided.

The association—one of 22 agencies currently campaigning in the United Appeal—provides that supervision. "J.C." was a 20-year-old who entered New Haven on five counts of breaking and entering. He had four previous convictions and had served six months at Brannen Lake.

After a stormy beginning, he finally settled down to the training program at New Haven.

For two years before his last conviction, he had aspired to become a cook. Applications to attend vocational school had been turned down because he did not have the necessary Grade 10 education. Eventually an opportunity arose through the advent of a general academic program at a local vocational institute.

Borstal Association staff were able to persuade the authorities to accept the lad's application on the basis he work out of the institution.

He complied, despite the fact it meant a three to four-month delay in his full release.

He graduated with excellent marks in June and was accepted in a cook's training course in the same school.

He comes off parole soon and hopes to attend a top chef's school in Switzerland on the completion of his present course.

It is apparent the New Haven training marked a turning point in his life.

Shortly after "J.R." arrived at New Haven it was apparent he had a flair for things mechanical. He went through the association's training program and on his release decided to become a stationary engineer.

In the four months since he located a job, he has become a temporary shift engineer, has an attractive wife and a home, and will soon have his full fourth class stationary engineer's ticket.

"J.R." says it was the backing and confidence placed in him by the association that made all this possible.

But not all New Haven inmates become success stories. "W.W." was an extremely disturbed 19-year-old whose father had committed suicide and whose mother had gone through a number of common law relationships. She showed little concern for her son who desperately needed her affection and guidance.

He has low intelligence and little stability. His love for animals eventually found him a farm placement.

But his inability to face up to his problems and his annoying behavior infuriated his employers, leading to a succession of changes in jobs. Following termination of parole, he left his job and immediately got into trouble again.

Despite all the setbacks the one person who stood by him was his sponsor, who became a father substitute for the boy. The boy is now in Okalla but his sponsor is a regular visitor.

The process of getting him an insight into his problems and the ability to overcome them will be a long one, officials say.

Association president R. G. Wismer has this to say: "To maintain and improve our program, we must continue to receive the wonderful support of the 17 Community Chests and United Appeal organizations of which the association is a member."

"Victoria Community Chest has provided no small part of this financial assistance; therefore, to ensure that those disturbed youths in Victoria and area who find their way to New Haven receive the help and assistance they so badly need, I urge each citizen to throw his full support behind the present United Appeal."

FCC Boss Hits Censorship Bid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Federal Communications Commission chairman Newton Minow said today it would have been "censorship in its most deplorable form" if the FCC had prevented broadcasting on the controversial Jack Parr Berlin Show.

Minow said "intelligent, responsible and well-meaning people" suggested that the FCC prevent showing on television of the Parr show, filmed on the Communist border of Berlin.

He cited his refusal to block the show as an argument against those who have accused him of seeking to censor television.

The chairman told a group of broadcasters, however, that he would not retract a single word of a speech he made last May describing TV programs as a "vast wasteland."

On the contrary, Minow urged members of the Radio and Television Executives Society to push efforts to eliminate violence from television, build up news shows and generally improve the quality of programming.

He made a specific recommendation that the three TV networks get together in a co-operative effort to put on high-quality programs for children.

He asserted that broadcasters have a responsibility to provide children with something more than escape, whether they want it or not. He suggested that the networks rotate a regularly scheduled late afternoon children's hour.

"It's time you creative television professionals lit a few million candles to take our children out of the darkness," he said.

New Demand For Cleanup Of Harbor

Need for a specially-built boat to keep the Inner Harbor free of logs and floating debris was raised again Thursday by a member of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Capt. George Veres, chairman of the harbor and transportation committee, urged a twin-hull, catamaran-type boat be built, with a sieve between hulls to sweep the harbor clear.

COST $3,000

He said such a boat could be built for about $3,000—the amount the city spent on constructing a new finger for the Inner Harbor small boat floats.

Capt. Veres said this money would be wasted unless the harbor is kept reasonably clear.

City engineer James Garnett said consideration would be given to building such a boat.

At present Robert Sims, operator of the Water Tourist, holds a summer contract to clear the harbor. He won the contract with a low bid of $550.

Jamaicans to Vote

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP)—The Jamaican government, stung by a referendum from the favored withdrawal from the West Indies Federation has decided to call a general election before May 31 next year.

The date Britain set to give the fledgling union independence. The decision was taken at a cabinet meeting headed by Premier Norman Manley, 68, who campaigned vigorously to keep Jamaica within the framework of the far-flung string of colonies.

Union Wins Right To Prosecute

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Labor Relations Board has granted permission to the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union (CLC) to prosecute the Royal York Hotel.

The union has been on strike against the hotel for 22 weeks.

In its submission to the board, the union claimed the hotel violated the Ontario Labor Relations Act by dismissing strikers who refused to return to work.

A letter from the board to the union Thursday said its decision did not pass judgment on the merits of the union's complaint but said questions of law had been raised to which the answers were "far from clear."

6 Victorians In Vancouver Horse Show

Eight "English-type" horses will be entered by Victorians in the fourth annual Horse of the Year Show in Vancouver Sept. 28-30.

They will be ridden by six well-known local horsewomen. Several western horses and riders from the Island are expected to take part as well.

Victoria entries "in" the English "summit" competition of the 1961 season are:

Jean Dunbar riding Fen's Polly, Seven Up, Trader and Quaradyna; Mrs. J. V. Donaldson and her daughter Pat riding Hindu Punch; Joanne Aubel riding Stepping Fast; Marcia Barry riding Dawnaabi (owned by Denise Yates); and Eleanor Isherwood riding Shiralla.

AT PNE GROUNDS

The event—gathering all top horses from various shows during the past season in local competition to select the most beautiful and highly trained mounts—will be held at the Pacific National Exhibition fairgrounds.

It is produced by Zone 5 of the Canadian Horse Shows Association under direction of Mrs. J. C. Abramson. Proceeds go to the Children's Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

Twenty-seven classes are scheduled for the competitions, ranging through jumping, costume and hack events to Western events.

MAJOR JAYCEE EFFORT

Fair Planning Non-Stop Task

By HAL JONES

The biggest and best Victoria Jaycee project is their annual exhibition in May.

Planning goes on almost non-stop for this event. As soon as the exhibits are pulled down and the litter cleared away from one exhibition, work starts on the next.

JOBS FOR ALL

It is an undertaking in which just about every member of the Victoria Junior Chamber takes part.

The exhibition was first held in 1945 under the title of the B.C. Products Fair. It was a two-day affair housed in the Bay Street Armory and drew a crowd of about 5,000.

Since then it has grown year by year.

120,000 ATTENDED

This year's week-long show had a working budget of about $70,000 and attracted an estimated 120,000.

Besides providing a service for the community as a whole the exhibition is the main source of revenue for Victoria Jaycees. It helps them carry out other projects.

$25,000 DONATED

However, it doesn't necessarily follow that the more profit made on one year's fair means more community projects the next year, says Jaycee president Al Buchan.

SCHOONER SINKS, 6 ESCAPE

NANAIMO (CP) — The 63-foot Seattle pleasure schooner Nitewich sank in Welcome Pass near Halfmoon Bay, near Pender Harbor, Tuesday, but all six aboard escaped, it was learned Thursday.

The vessel was reported to have struck a rock and sank immediately in 60 fathoms of water in the Pass.

Capt. Monroe Peasley was skipper-owner of the vessel.

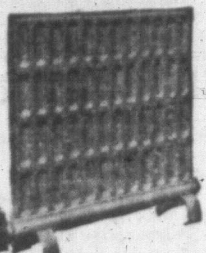

No other details were available.

It was not believed any attempt would be made to salvage the tall-masted craft which has been cruising B.C. waters for many years. The depth of the water where she sank is considered too great.

Anti-Picket Law Appeal To High Court

By The Canadian Press
VANCOUVER—The Supreme Court of Canada will be asked to determine whether British Columbia's 18-month-old anti-picketing legislation is an invalid restriction on the freedom of speech.

The British Columbia Court of Appeal on Thursday gave Hercy Kohn, of Vancouver, leave to go to the highest court in Canada in connection with a British Columbia Supreme Court injunction, which restrained picketing of a construction project.

Kohn, who was sometimes accompanied by an unidentified companion, carried a sign which said: "Non-union men working here". There was no evidence whether either belonged to a union.

The appeal court recently ruled by a 4-1 majority, although the statement published by Kohn was true, and no common-law wrong had been committed, his action is forbidden by a provision of the 1960 British Columbia Trades Union Act, known as Bill 43.

SUIT SETTLED
VANCOUVER—The British Columbia Electric Company has accepted $2,500 settlement in a suit against a Chilliwack couple as the result of a traffic accident near Hope.

A truck and equipment belonging to the company were damaged.

The firm sued Donald Lorne Pickard and Joan Elizabeth Pickard. The settlement was reached out of court.

SENTENCE DOUBLED
VANCOUVER—Appeal Court Thursday doubled the sentence given a Vancouver man for his part in a $10,000 Hotel Georgia robbery a year ago.

The court judges increased Harry T. Rhodes term to four years from two. The Crown appealed the sentence on the ground it was inadequate.

POLICE DENIAL
VANCOUVER—Police Thursday denied a union leader's claim they intimidated pickets at a retail outlet here.

Deputy Chief Gordon Ambrose said three police cars were sent to Taylor, Pearson and Carson's premises "because it was indicated there may be some breach of the peace."

"The officers didn't observe a breach of the peace and took no action..."

The deputy chief was commenting on a statement by Bud Hodgins, international representative of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (RWDSU) which has been on strike at various company branches since July 17.

SEARCH FAILS
VANCOUVER—Two search planes returned here Thursday night without finding a trace of a fishboat that was reported missing Wednesday off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The trawler Strehor J. manned by H. Snow of Port Alberni, B.C., disappeared in heavy seas while en route to Ucluelet.

ACQUITTED
PRINCE RUPERT—A non-capital murder trial jury here Thursday acquitted 19-year-old Thomas Clifford Brown of Klenmu, B.C.

Brown was charged in the June 7 death of his uncle, Edward John Douglas, 47, of Port Edward. Brown gave himself up in Las Vegas, Nev., June 26.

$170,000 Cost For Ladysmith Water Project

LADYSMITH—A new water supply system for Ladysmith will cost $170,000, according to preliminary estimates.

This information has been supplied to the village commission by clerk R. S. Wood.

The sum includes cost of a 1,000,000-gallon reservoir and surge tank behind Arbutus Hump, into which water from Stocking Lake and Holland Creek will run; a 12-inch main to bring the water to Ladysmith, and a new main to bring Stocking Lake water to the new reservoir.

Mr. Wood said if the $170,000 was raised by the sale of 15-year debentures, it would cost about $20,000 a year.

DUNCAN—An Alberni man and wife were treated for shock and bruises here after their car crashed into a locomotive at the Latham Road E & N crossing Wednesday.

Police said George Hoare, 915 Gordon Street, was the driver of the car which struck the side of the southbound train at about 9:30 p.m.

Mr. Hoare said he did not hear the whistle of the locomotive. His car was badly damaged.

DUNCAN—B.C. Forest Products president T. N. Beaupre will address a public meeting at Duncan on Oct. 17 in connection with National Forest Products Week.

DUNCAN—Basic Grade Seven and Eight courses in English and mathematics will be offered to all age groups of Cowichan Indians at central points in the Duncan School District.

The program is a joint effort by the Indian band council, the Indian agency and the district school board.

DUNCAN—North Cowichan municipal council, Wednesday, awarded a contract for $59,107 to W. G. Brownsey and Sons of Duncan for the construction of new municipal workshops near the Mount Prevost School on Somers Road.

NORTH COWICHAN—Council approved in principle on Wednesday purchase of a second fire truck by Chemainus fire department.

Councillor W. T. Bowles, chairman of the fire protection committee, said the second truck at Chemainus is essential. Estimated cost is $18,000.

Coun. Bowles pointed out that the department had $12,000 in hand and council passed the investigation of the methods of financing the $6,000 balance for the new truck to the finance committee.

CHEMAINUS—Members of the Chemainus Ratepayers' Association, at a meeting Tuesday, complained about the condition of the drinking water here.

Some residents reported having found worms and other foreign matter in their taps.

NANAIMO—A one-day education conference sponsored by the Alumni Association of the University of British Columbia gets under way here Nov. 25.

Fly-Fishing Only Asked By Anglers

CAMPBELL RIVER—Members of the Campbell River Fish and Game Club are not completely happy with the department of recreation and conservation ruling which has closed the Campbell River to spring salmon fishing until Oct. 31.

Club officer L. G. "Van" Egan said the government closure only partially solves the problem of spring salmon escapement.

"We asked a long time ago to have the river reserved for fly fishing only."

Request was based on the fact that with light fly fishing tackle, it would be almost impossible for anglers to play or land a big salmon.

The Time Our Boys Clobbered the Mighty Canadiens

By ARCHIE WILLS
(Former Managing Editor and Sports Editor, The Times)

It's not nice to tell a couple of kindly fellows like Ken Reardon and Toe Blake that the real reason why Les Canadiens are not doing so well in their training here is that they're HAUNTED!

How can you expect your help, even if it is high-priced, to be alert in the morning after "The Ghosts of '25" have been slithering through the transoms and cutting capers on the walls and ceilings all through the night?

Someone in high estate in Canadiens' head office in Montreal bungled badly when he decided to get his players far away as possible from the home plates. He peered at the map for a village at the end of the sticks and announced "Victoria."

That decision condemned Les Canadiens to the scaffold. It sent them back to the scene of their greatest agony. It even sent them back to the same hotel in which their ancestors had found solace and dipped their crumpled sticks in their cups of tea.

It was a bright March morning in 1925. Lester Patrick and myself were in the lobby of the Empress Hotel to greet Canadiens as they arrived from Montreal to oppose the Victoria Cougars in the only Stanley Cup series played in this city.

The team was led by the suave, likeable French-Canadian, Leo Dandurand. He was dapper that morning, wearing a black Homburg, a tight-fitting blue overcoat with velvet collar, spats and lavender gloves, and he carried a gold-headed cane.

In his train were some big names in the Canadian athletic world. The human meteor, Howie Morenz; the 135-pound Aurélien Joliat, a fascinating stickhandler and one of the few great left-wingers; Sprague Cleghorn, the burliest of defencemen, the mention of whose name brought memories of blood-curdling acts of violence on the ice, and Georges Vézina, who, besides wearing the mantle of the greatest goalie in the business, had sired 23 children, no mean feat, even in Quebec. Billy Bouchier, one of the famous Bouchier family of hockey players rounded out their six-man team. They had several spares of lesser caliber.

This mighty hockey team was rightfully cocky as it took over rooms in the Empress. There was an air of condescension in their attitude towards Victoria. For, how could a little city like ours, which totalled no more than 50,000 if you counted all the heads south of Duncan, produce a team which had any right to be skating on the same ice as the majestic Canadiens?

Monsieur Dandurand said Canadiens were strong, resolute, iron-men. Their six key players could play 55 of the 60 minutes against the best in the world and he had no worries. It looked like three straight wins for them in the best-of-five series.

Victoria was well warmed up for the series which was held in the Patrick Arena at the corner of Epworth and Fort Streets, in Oak Bay. They packed 4,200 fans into the wooden structure for the opening game.

Then the boom fell.

Canadiens were rocked back on their haunches in the second period by the most blistering attack ever seen up to that time. Victoria won 5-2. The second game was closer, but Victoria won 3-1. The Cougars weren't clicking too well in the third game and Canadiens, making a determined effort to redeem themselves, took the honors 4-2.

Then came the fourth game, which proved to be the final one. I have never seen such savage and sustained power as the Cougars developed. They made a shambles of Canadiens, winning 6-1.

This proved a more serious blow to the pride of Canadiens than the unexpected defeat they suffered in the world series last spring at the hands of Chicago Black Hawks. It was truly the slaughter of the Habitants!

You may well ask "How come?" What caused the utter rout of such vaunted players?

The "Silver Fox" had produced another of the gems of strategy for which he became so famous.

That year Lester had welded together the remains of the Seattle and Victoria clubs and came up with a club which ran rough-shod over all opposition in the Western League.

Canadiens Baffled By Line Switches

He had a wealth of exceptionally fine hockey players and he used them to exploit, to the full, the new rule which permitted the forward pass in the attacking area.

He formed two forward lines and used a third defence man on relief.

It had been customary, when making changes, to wait until the whistle blew for some infractions. Lester brushed this aside and he changed his lines "on the fly." This was the introduction of the multiple lines, which now have been developed to three.

Canadiens couldn't understand where all the players were coming from. One minute the starward six were checking certain players and the next new faces confronted them. This switching baffled and exhausted Canadiens.

That is why the Victoria Cougars of '25 became known as "The greatest 10-man hockey team in the history of the game" and now are the "Ghosts of '25" to the present generation of Canadiens.

You will realize the potential of the Cougars when I name the players. Happy Holmes was in goal and Clem Loughlin, Gordie Fraser and Slim Halderson were the defencemen. The forward lines included the super-star, Frank Fredrickson, and the crafty Frank Foyston as centres, with Jack Walker, Gitzzy Hart, Harry Meeking and Jocko Anderson on the wings.

The final period of the last game showed "The Ghosts of '25" in the full stride of their power, dazzling speed, determination to destroy, and magnificent passing. They were out to make monkeys of Canadiens and they poured it on with no thought of coasting home with the score so heavily in their favor.

Vezina 'Never See So Many Pucks'

I have never seen a more killing pace and such adept hockey than in that last 20 minutes. Even the great Cleghorn stood helpless as the Cougars flashed through or around him. I didn't know whether he felt disgusted or really admired what he was seeing for the first time, the changing of forward lines while the play went on, but of which he was to see more as time went on.

Georges Vezina was on the point of collapse as the final whistle sounded. The score could have been much higher, had he not given such a spectacular display.

"I never see so many pucks in my life," he lamented as he went to the dressing room.

I have often wondered whether the ordeal which he was subjected to in that series had something to do with his sad passing not long afterwards from TB.

The suspicious could not believe that a little burg like Victoria could produce a team which could do such terrible things to their Les Canadiens. So, the next spring, Lester took his Cougars to Montreal for exhibition games. The Cougars whipped Canadiens 5-3 and slapped down the new, rugged Montreal Maroons 3-1.

Not long before Lester died I was chatting with him about the old days and we recalled this great team. I asked him what the salaries were. Salaries are always secret but he unlocked this secret.

Frank Scored 39 Goals in 32 Games

Here is what he paid the Cougars: Fredrickson, $3,500; Holmes, Foyston, Walker and Halderson, $2,500 each; Loughlin and Fraser, $2,000 each; Hart and Meeking, $1,500 each, and Anderson, $1,600. That's a total of $22,700. And they were not expensive on sticks either, five dozen lasted them a full season!

(Kenny and Toe: What would you pay those chaps today? For instance, Fredrickson? He ought to make in a season, with playoffs and world series money, almost $22,700. He would probably break that 50-goal mark of Richard and Geoffrion without trouble as in 1922-23 he scored 39 goals in 32 games against such goalies as Hughie Lehman, Hap Holmes and George Hainsworth.)

Thanks, Kenny and Toe, for bringing Canadiens to town once again: It gave us a chance to tell the folks here many of whom are newcomers and would never believe we once played for and won the Stanley Cup, right in our own backyard.

Too bad it's all over for us, but good luck to Canadiens this season, and sorry we had to revive a bad memory for you.

ROOKIES CLASH

All's Not Serene In Habitant Camp

Nobody has ever accused a hockey training camp of being a bed of roses, and a pair of Montreal Canadiens rookies pointed out some of the thorns involved in the scramble for regular berths on the National League team.

The rookies—winger Fred Hills and defenceman Terry Harper—shattered the serenity of Canadiens' training camp progress with an elbow-thrusting shuffle that very nearly erupted into some fist-swinging at Memorial Arena Thursday afternoon.

It didn't blossom into much of a brawl, but you could see the twinkle in the eyes of coach Toe Blake and Ken Reardon. Both regard this "fighting-for-your-keep" bit as a healthy sign.

Harper, who lived briefly in Nanaimo a few years ago, took objection to a "butt-end" in the morning session.

Totems Cancel Game With Red Wings

But Plante may be far from assured of a regular job.

Manitoba has also been in a depressive, and his record is forcing Blake and vice-president Ken Reardon to have second looks at the lanky rookie. His average is about five goals better than any of his rivals.

Jean Beliveau, who suffered a cut on the instep of his foot on Wednesday, showed little effects of the injury. He checked in with his first goal in the morning.

Hills scored twice for the Whites in the morning and Bill Riecke got two in the afternoon. Phil Goyette scored a goal during each workout.

There were noises coming out of other camps, too.

Travel-Minded Young Golf Pros After Bursary

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP)—A bar at the Burlington Golf and Country Club took a bickering Thursday in the qualifying round of the Macnaughton-Brookes tournament with George Knudson, Toronto, formerly of Winnipeg, leading the way with a five-under 67.

Right on his heels was Peter Aldrop of Brantford with 68. He was followed by Bob Pansuk of Windsor and Norman Hunt of Toronto with 69.

A record 104 junior professionals teed off in the competition to choose three young pros for a 10-week, 10-tournament golf tour in the United States and a prize of $1,700 each.

FIGHT RESULTS

COLLEGE Ohio—Rory Calhoun, 170 lbs., White Plains, N.Y., outpointed Frank Medina, 165 lbs., Valley Stream, N.Y.
LOS ANGELES—Denny Valdez, 135 lbs., Los Angeles, outpointed G. Cadillo, 125 lbs., Los Angeles, 30.
BUTLER, Pa.—Tom Gerardo, 174 lbs., West Chester, Pa., defeated winner by a knockout over Tom Huston, 169 lbs., Clayton, Pa. Huston left ring in the fourth round, claiming referee did not stop Gerardo from hitting him.
TOKYO—Jose Nishii, 127 lbs., Mexico, outpointed Hara Sakamoto, 127 lbs., Japan, 30.

COAST LEAGUE BOSS

TACOMA (AP)—A Norwegian freighter pushed a tug to the side of a port of Tacoma pier last Thursday with Dewey Soriano, Pacific Coast Baseball League president and licensed Puget Sound pilot, as pilot aboard the ship, it was learned here today.

Damage to the pier was estimated at $5,000, and the tug, several thousand dollars.
The Norwegian M/s. Jessie Stove was being shifted from Port Grain Dock when the incident occurred.
Two tugs, the Peter Foss and Brynn Foss, were employed in assisting the ship during the shifting manoeuvre. The Brynn Foss was pressed into the midsection of the 1,200-foot pier which lies between Pier 2 and Port Grain Dock.

No one was injured aboard the tug.

VANCOUVER (CP)

Brampton Ramblers desperately need more scoring punch if they hope to bounce back into contention for the Canadian senior lacrosse championship.

The eastern champions have scored only 10 goals in losing the first two games of their best-of-seven series here with Vancouver Caribuffs.

A weak front-line attack hurt the Ramblers in Tuesday's first game as they lost 14-6. It was the same story Thursday night as Ramblers scored only one goal in the entire second half and were beaten 11-4 before 1,830 fans.

The third game will be played Saturday, the fourth Monday and the fifth, if necessary, Wednesday.

Brampton coach Bruce McClure just shook his head after Thursday's game.

"How can we beat them if we don't score any goals?" he said.

MAY PROVIDE SPARK

McClure hopes the addition of forward Bert Naylor will give his club a much-needed lift for Saturday's game. Naylor, one of Brampton's top scorers this season, is flying here for the third and fourth games.

Naylor, a school teacher, can leave his job only briefly. Despite Thursday's score, the Ramblers put up a game fight in the first half. They were tied 3-3 at half time but then the roof fell in.

Vancouver scored four unanswered goals—three in two minutes and six seconds—in the third quarter to grab a commanding 7-3 lead.

The winners poured it on in the final 15 minutes to outscore Brampton 4-1.

LEADS SCORERS

Defenceman Bill Barbour led Vancouver scorers with three goals and four assists. Stu Smith, who had four goals in the first game, and Bob Parry each scored twice while Gordie Gimble, Bob Babcock, Wayne Pecknold and Bill Chisholm added singles.

John Ford, Gary Moore, Brian A'Hearn and Bill Castor were the Brampton scorers.

Ramblers checked more heavily than in the first game but it cost them penalties. This proved disastrous as Vancouver scored four power-play goals, three of them in the fourth quarter.

Brampton drew 36 of the game's 46 minutes in penalties, including 10-minute misconducts to defencemen Gordie Thompson and George Kapasky.

Fast-Stepping Pacer

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Adolis Butler, five-year-old bay horse owned by the Adolis Butler Syndicate, of Westbury, N.Y., paced a 1:53.35 mile against the clock Thursday—the fastest ever raced over a half-mile track.

TRIES WIN WAGER

Shudda's Gonna Try A Bolder Approach

Playing it safe hasn't been working for Shudda Haddim, so the self-styled peerless handicapper is going to try the bold approach in his bets at Sandown Park.

Shudda, who usually makes one bet per day, collected his first payoff Wednesday, getting a skimpy 30 cents profit on a show bet, but missed again Thursday when Golden Ears ran out of the money.

With $20.30 left from his original stake of $25, Shudda is going for a win bet at Sandown Saturday, risking a deuce on Fast Tartan in the second race.

VICTORIA'S STANLEY CUP CHAMPS

Russell Oatman, Harry Meeking, Frank Fredrickson and Lester Patrick. Kneeling are Frank Foyston, Jocko Anderson, Jack Walker and Gitzzy Hart. Cougars defeated Canadiens three games to one.

Reds Reach for Flag—Rog Still Seeks No. 60

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati Reds, their first National League pennant in 21 years almost within grasp, take on San Francisco Giants tonight at Crosley Field while their fading rivals, Los Angeles Dodgers, journey to St. Louis to do battle with the Cardinals. The key number is four. Any combination of Cincinnati victories or Los Angeles defeats totalling four assures the pennant to the Redlegs for the first time since 1940.

Certainly the schedule favors the Reds. They play San Francisco again Saturday, then go on the road for their four last games.

HAVE BUSY SCHEDULE

Dodgers will be on the road from now to the end of the season and have a much busier time of it. They trail by five games.

Yankees, out scouting the Redlegs in force, are reconciled to playing Cincinnati. They would have preferred the Dodgers. The reason, of course, is that the Coliseum in Los Angeles holds 92,000 for a baseball game and Crosley Field a bare 30,000. This makes a big difference in the players' share of the series receipts.

There were no scheduled games in the National League Thursday night.

MARIS HITLESS

In the American League, Roger Maris' date with destiny is at least a day away.

The New York Yankee slugger, one shy of matching Babe Ruth's record 60-homer total of 1927, failed to get the elusive commodity Thursday night as the Yankees lost to Baltimore Orioles 5-3.

He went hitless in four trips to the plate.

That left Maris, who no longer can officially tie the Bambino's mark under the 154-decision limit set by Commissioner Ford Frick, with seven games in which to match or surpass the Babe on the American League's expanded 162-game program.

AT BOSTON NEXT

The Yankees, idle today, move into Boston next for a two-game set Saturday and Sunday, then return home for a pair with the Orioles and a windup three-game series with the Red Sox.

"I intend to play every game the rest of the season," insists Maris, who hit No. 59 at Baltimore Wednesday night and became the first player in major league history to come that close to Ruth's record.

"I still want to get 60 and 61. Record or not, I want to hit more than Ruth did. That is, more than anyone else has. As far as I'm concerned it will be a record."

Nobody's Eager To Buy Mounties

VANCOUVER (CP)—Milwaukee Braves will not be buying Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, vice-president George Norgan of Vancouver said here Thursday night.

The Mounties, who operated in 1961 under a working agreement with the National League club, had written the Braves asking if they wanted to purchase the team. The Braves had offered to do so a year ago, but the Mounties rejected that offer.

Norgan said Vancouver directors will try to sell the club to another major league team, but held little hope such a deal could be arranged.

He said he had talked with officials of the National League Chicago Cubs, a team without a triple-A affiliate now that Houston has moved into the National League.

NOT ENOUGH PLAYERS

They were interested, said Norgan, but Cubs' general manager John Holland said his team didn't have enough players to supply a full team here. Chicago is expected to work with Salt Lake City of PCL next season.

If the Mounties are not sold they hope to renew their working agreement with the Braves.

The Braves, however, in saying they didn't want to buy Vancouver, indicated they might not be able to do as well for Vancouver in the way of player help next season.

Like many National League teams, Milwaukee could lose as many as seven players when New York Mets and Houston join the senior loop. Each existing member of the National League must contrib-

Maybe Baseball Is His Game

TACOMA (AP)—A Norwegian freighter pushed a tug to the side of a port of Tacoma pier last Thursday with Dewey Soriano, Pacific Coast Baseball League president and licensed Puget Sound pilot, as pilot aboard the ship, it was learned here today.

Damage to the pier was estimated at $5,000, and the tug, several thousand dollars.
The Norwegian M/s. Jessie Stove was being shifted from Port Grain Dock when the incident occurred.
Two tugs, the Peter Foss and Brynn Foss, were employed in assisting the ship during the shifting manoeuvre. The Brynn Foss was pressed into the midsection of the 1,200-foot pier which lies between Pier 2 and Port Grain Dock.

No one was injured aboard the tug.

Soriano was the pilot aboard the American Mail, Line's Island Mail when it hit some underwater object resulting in a deep gash to the hull in the Smith Island area of the straits May 29.
A hearing on the Island Mail incident is scheduled to resume in October.

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

They swear that this one is true: Perhaps the man had been celebrating the event. Maybe he was trying to erase the memory. Anyway, he had downed enough to take care of both.

The city businessman-angler weaved through the door of a local sporting goods store. On his face was an impish, so-whot look. In his arms four pieces of what had once been a de luxe salmon rod.

"Can you fix it?" he asked.

"What happened?"

"Well, I caught a tug, a big tug," he fluidly explained, "and it ran, and ran. I couldn't stop it."

"Couldn't you cut the line and save the rod?"

"I gesh so. But I was too excited. It was the first tug I ever caught."

Tug fishing isn't so hot, but coho salmon seem to be getting back into a biting mood in southern Vancouver Island waters after a couple of weeks of poor fishing.

Coho had been showing in fair numbers in several spots, but only an occasional one bothered to take a pass at a lure. Although winds have caused a bit of trouble in exposed areas the last few days, catches indicate that either new silvers are moving in or the reluctant ones have decided it's time to start grabbing bucktail flies, minnows or spoons.

Waters off Sooke may be the best bet but Saanich Inlet, one of the more consistent producers, has been giving up some fine coho catches to bucktailers the past three days.

They are hitting all the way from Deep Cove, where Gordon Holder boated a 15½-pounder, to the Goldstream section, where a few good springs are adding to the action. Best area Wednesday and Thursday for bucktailers was in the triangle formed by Senanus Island, Willis Point and Bamberton.

Action Improving at Cowichan Bay

Around Oak Bay the regulars have been saying "the fish are around but they won't bite," but there have been some big coho taken in the past couple of days from Oak Bay to Sooke and a fair number of pinks are still hooked off Sooke.

A quiet but sometimes hot spot is Margaret Bay at Gordon Head. Sidney Spit, Dock Island and Fairfax Point waters have yielded several silvers in the past two days. Green-and-white bucktails and a flood tide appeared to be a good combination.

Activity off Deep Cove and Cherry Point suggests that the coho are moving into Cowichan Bay, where a pair of 13-pounders came in at Ordano's Boathouse. Anglers talk of sighting a good number of fish, and there is an excellent chance that Cowichan bucktailers will get hot just in time for the Monday arrival of Bill Walker and Bill Halkett, who previously haven't posed much of a hazard to fish in the bay. Blue-and-white flies are favorites at Cowichan.

More distant spots that should be worth a try for coho this weekend are Porlier Pass and off Qualicum and Campbell River, where reports say silvers are boiling off the river-mouth, and good catches are coming in from Cape Mudge and Quathiaqui Cove.

Members of the Lions Club are hoping the current run of coho in Saanich Inlet doesn't ease off before the annual Cerebral Palsy Derby, which the Lions stage co-sponsor with the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

Only coho count in the derby, which starts at 6 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 30, and winds up at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 1. Prizes are numerous and all proceeds go to the Victoria Cerebral Palsy Association.

As expected with the woods noisy and dry, deer hunters had their troubles on opening weekend and bags were generally skimpy. Unless we get a change in the weather and a fair bunch of rain, this could be another frustrating weekend for guys chasing venison.

Best of the areas checked by game branch personnel last Saturday and Sunday was at Nanaimo Lakes, where 288 hunters packed out 47 bucks for a success ratio of 15.9 per cent, which is excellent for September. In most other areas, the success figure ran from six to 10 per cent.

Grouse hunters having trouble locating birds might try, if their legs can stand it, looking for blues in the scrub on top of ridges.

Redmen Threaten Shutout Record

Victoria juvenile football teams—Vampires and Farmers—are compiling an amazing record.

After five games, Vancouver Island League rivals—including the defending champion Campbell River Raiders—have yet to score a point against the two local squads.

Farmers, coached by Jack Bryan and Ralph Sinden, have marked up three straight shutouts, while Vampires won their only starts by trouncing Campbell River 55-0 and Courtenay 37-0.

Farmers are idle this weekend, but Vampires step out to Carnarvon Park Sunday afternoon for an attempt to stretch the remarkable streak.

It won't be easy. Vampires face Nanaimo Redmen, this year rated as the best of the up-Island entries. The Redmen lost a 1-0 decision to Farmers in the season's opening game.

Sunday's kickoff is at 2 p.m. Victoria's junior and intermediate clubs move out of town for weekend encounters. The intermediate Drakes have a Pacific Coast Conference date with UBC Chiefs at the UBC Stadium Saturday afternoon, while the Hornets play Renfrew in a Fraser Valley Junior League game Sunday at Burnaby.

Canadian Rally

TORONTO (CP)—The 4,100-mile trans-Canada rally will be run for the second time in 1962.

The rally, run for the first time last May between Montreal and Vancouver, is the longest in the western hemisphere and attracted more than 100 entries from Sweden, Norway, Great Britain, the United States and Canada. Next year's event will be limited to 150 entries and will follow the same route.

Columbus Rates As Team to Beat

The people's choice is Columbus, and that's the side Wally Milligan's United crew draws Saturday.

"I'm no pessimist," Milligan insists, "but we'll have our hands full Saturday."

The likes of Tony Canta, Roy Nosella and Normie McLeod proves that Columbus has talent.

That, however, isn't the only reason that Columbus impresses rivals, which includes Milligan, the Victoria manager. Peter Mainardi helps.

Mainardi is the publisher of an Italian newspaper in Vancouver who sponsors the Pacific Coast Soccer League team.

"The money," Milligan enviously agrees, "helps. But I'm very impressed with the manner in which Mainardi runs his team. He runs a soccer team as it should be run."

"Believe me, that club is going to open a lot of eyes before the season is over."

McLeod, a British Columbia all-star, is one of Mainardi's prize acquisitions.

Now the word is out that Columbus will soon report two new signings. The soccer-loving publisher isn't talking, but rumor has it that he has strings out for Eduardo Dal Pos and Alberto Stabellini. Both are playing for Hamilton in the Eastern Canada Professional League, and both were formerly with first division teams in Italy.

SCOUTS UNITED

There's added proof that Mainardi takes his soccer seriously. He was a visitor at Royal Athletic Park last weekend when Victoria battled Vancouver Canadians to a 1-1 draw. He copiously scouted United's every move.

Mainardi, his money and his men visit Athletic Park en masse Saturday, and there you have three factors that could spell trouble for United.

Kick off is at 2 o'clock.

The two punters walked slowly out of Sandown. One could be called Fat—everything he bet came out sunny-side up. He was forced to light his cigars with used dollar bills so they wouldn't leave an unsightly bulge in his pockets.

The other will be called Thin. All the horses he backed had an affliction—the "slows."

Unknown to both, the Times' secret tape recorder, folded between a hot dog wrapper, and an old racing form, lurked nearby picking up bits of their conversation.

Fat: "Well, another day, another $200. Coming here is better than having a licence to print money. If I'd only parlayed my pot (editor's note: he means winnings and not what you think) onto Free Glory I coulda bought this place."

Thin: "If I'd only kept my hands in my pockets when Magog and Our Hour ran, I'd have enough to pay the rent tomorrow. Imagine me bettin' those two... all day long favorites come down—except Free Glory in the seventh, of course—and go for a pair of dandies that that run like they was pulling a boom of logs."

Fat: "They would have no racing Friday. (Ed. note: racing was called off when insufficient horses were entered. Only three races filled). The way I'm knocking them over."

Will They Make Up for Lost Date?

Fat: "Can't understand why they prefer Spokane. They only get $700 minimums there. With the $350 and the one per cent bonus here that makes almost $600. And the way the handle is up every day (Ed. note: $40,765 Wednesday, an increase of almost $4,000 over the same day last year) it could be even more. You run at Spokane and the state of Washington slaps a 20 per cent holding tax on your purses."

Thin: "I hear some horsemen going to ask the Racing Commission if they can schedule the 'lost day' on Oct. 2. You suppose they'll get it?"

Fat: "I dunno. They asked for two extra days and they got them. Then they couldn't find enough horses to fill a regular day. Besides a franchise is a franchise. Can't expect the government to play 'button, button, who's got the button?' with dates."

Thin: "You never can tell about governments. Especially this one. Lookit the BCE—the Bennett-Confiscated-Electric. One day they was 8-5 to tell the government to go jump in a pond. The next day they was in the pond. That Mr. Bennett—he moves a lot faster than some of the horses I bet on."

Fat (unlocking the door of his Jaguar X-15): "See you Saturday. Keep smiling and bring some green."

Thin: "Don't mention green. It reminds me how my face must look. When my wife sees it she'll see red and you know who's going to end up black and blue."

ject—the public has not had a say.

"It is time they did."
Mr. Strachan's challenge came as the premier and his cabinet were on their way to a meeting at Campbell River and Mr. Fulton was due to speak in Vancouver.

SPEAKS TONIGHT

The premier is due to make a speech on power at a Campbell River banquet tonight.

While Mr. Strachan was making his challenge to the premier, a CCF backbencher, George Hobbs of Revelstoke, issued a statement saying Mr. Bennett's actions have placed Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston in a position where he has no alternative but to resign from office.

Mr. Hobbs said the premier's recent speech at Prince George was "by inference" an attack on Mr. Williston and senior officials of the lands and forests department.

"Because of the far-reaching implications of Mr. Bennett's statements, Mr. Williston has now been placed in an untenable position, and is left no alternative but to resign," Mr. Hobbs said.

He pointed out that Mr. Williston spoke in the legislature Feb. 8 "in glowing terms" of those responsible for the Columbia River treaty.

"On the other hand, Mr. Bennett at Prince George violently attacked the Columbia River treaty with the U.S."

VICTORIA ARMY officer Capt. E. R. Barnes has been appointed resident staff officer at the University of B.C. It was announced today. An aris graduate from UBC, he served at Camp Gagetown prior to this appointment.

NO EVIDENCE OF SABOTAGE

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI) — A United Nations officer said today that investigations so far have turned up no evidence of sabotage or air attack in the plane crash that killed Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld Monday.

A multi-nation investigation into the crash in which 14 persons died with Hammarskjöld is continuing in strict secrecy.

FULTON

ahead with the line to Bellingham, Mr. Fulton said, "providing Canada and British Columbia go ahead with the treaty." Only cost to Canada on the Bellingham line would be a standby charge.

At his hour-long press conference Mr. Fulton sidestepped a direct answer to a question whether Ottawa planned to block Premier Bennett's plans for development of the Peace River by the recently expropriated B.C. Electric.

He said there were a number of unresolved problems in connection with Peace development, including its effect on navigation on the Mackenzie River system, the availability of markets for Peace power, the timing of construction and the price of such power.

He said he had no plans to see Premier Bennett on his current trip unless the premier indicated he wanted a meeting. Neither did the federal government have any plans of reopening negotiations on the Columbia River Treaty which had taken 16 years to conclude.

B.C. had agreed to the present terms of the treaty but had changed its position since January. It now was insisting on sale of Canadian share of downstream benefit power to the U.S. while the whole concept of the treaty was to get cheap power for Canadian needs.

The Americans, he felt, would expect concessions if the treaty were re-opened and "We would probably come out with a less-advantageous position than we have now."

"If this B.C. position is maintained," Mr. Fulton said, "it will mean the end of the treaty... we are not going to be party to an arrangement that would flood Canadian territory for the sole advantage of the U.S."

RUSK

whether a basis for East-West negotiations is possible.

Half-a-dozen aides and advisers of each attended the luncheon, including Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, the senior U.S. and Soviet delegates to the United Nations.

Around the dining table the conferees talked over the problems of peace in Laos.

They also discussed the leadership crisis in the United Nations following the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld. Rusk told Gromyko a big majority of the UN's 99 members oppose Russia's plan to replace Hammarskjöld with a three-man board. The UN secretary must have a single director in order to function, Rusk argued. Gromyko stuck firmly to Khrushchev's "troika" proposal.

But most of the private meeting was devoted to talking about German and Berlin problems. The only formal statement after the meeting came from the U.S. side. It said the two men talked over "a number of problems of importance to each country, including the problem of Germany and Berlin."

Later as more information became available it was evident that while Rusk and Gromyko spoke in quiet tones there was no budging from known positions by either.

SAFE!

The Daily Newspaper
Is the Safer, Surer
Advertising Investment

Two questions influence the choice of an advertising medium. First, what does it cost to reach a person with a sales message? Second, how many of those you reach will buy? A typical advertiser can reach a person through newspapers at least as economically as through other media. And the newspaper delivers an audience that likes to read advertising, prefers newspapers with advertising, and shops from advertising. Such an audience guarantees more sales action per message delivered, and makes newspapers the safer, surer ad medium. Why not send the daily newspaper to bat for you?

Overall Planning Urged On Peace R. Development

By FRANK RUTTER

A special planning agency for overall development of all Peace River resources as soon as fully as possible is recommended in a study of the region to be presented at a conference next month.

The Peace River power project has opened "a completely new cause for optimism" for development of all types of resources, says Ira M. Robinson, assistant professor of planning at the University of B.C.

His paper on the Peace River region is to be read at the national Resources for Tomorrow Conference which opens Oct. 23 in Montreal.

"All its assets should be directed and focused toward realizing the area's fullest potential," it says.

LAISSEZ FAIRE

"Old emphasis and laissez faire attitudes may have to change, with the recognition that this long slumbering giant has finally awakened and has a powerful role to play in Canada's overall development."

Mr. Robinson continues: "It would seem, at last the area has surmounted its chronic problem of isolation and remoteness from markets and supply areas."

He adds: "There is a responsibility to use the largesse of the region—its forests, fertile soil, minerals and hydro power—to create stable and lasting benefits for the greatest number of people."

PLANNING AGENCY

The overall development should be directed by a special provincial planning agency under the office of the premier, says Mr. Robinson.

There should also be a regional development office located in the Peace River country in close liaison with local officials.

Mr. Robinson says both B.C. and Alberta should set up these new posts, and there should be a joint cabinet committee to ensure development is compatible on each side of the B.C.-Alberta border.

MILLS AS RESULT

Dealing with the power project alone, Mr. Robinson says "Several sawmills and pulp mills could result."

"In addition," he adds, "the availability of cheap hydro, power when combined with the gas, oil, coal and agricultural products within the area itself, plus access to the base metals at Pine Point (via the proposed new railway at Grimshaw) could form the basis for a metallurgical and/or petrochemical industry. Another possibility is a uranium enrichment plant."

Apart from the new industrial complex which could be built around the power project, Mr. Robinson says gas prospects and markets look good, oil prospects are good, though markets less certain, agricultural resources already existing could be greatly improved.

NEW INTEREST

"There are probably worldwide or international reasons for renewing interest in these resource potentialities," he says. "There is first the unspoken challenge which the Soviet Union extends because of that country's bold and far-reaching developmental progress in its northern areas."

"Then, too, in a world where many countries are faced with too large and too fast a growth of population pressing on limited land and other resources, there is no doubt that the prospects of settling and developing the Peace region on a more extensive scale than heretofore would be most welcome," says Mr. Robinson.

GOV'T SETS UP PROGRAM FOR NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Transport Industry Will Be on Alert

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is working on an urgent plan to keep Canada's transport industry rolling in a national emergency, reliable informants said today.

The program—rated as high priority in federal emergency planning—is reported to involve just about everything that moves in the country, including trains, planes, buses, trucks, ships, even private automobiles.

It also involves key facilities such as the St. Lawrence Seaway, major ocean and inland ports, countrywide air terminals, roads and highways as well as maintenance and repair depots for road, rail, air and sea carriers.

The problem is complex. To meet it, the government is trying to get the experts in the various transport fields to plan their own role in any emergency, with co-ordination at the top.

The first step in alerting civil air carriers was taken this week in Ottawa.

CALLED FOR TALKS

Representatives of eight major airlines were summoned to Ottawa for high-level briefings on what to expect in the event of an attack. They were told what would be expected of them and were asked to make their plans accordingly.

One problem, facing the airlines would be where and how to cache replacement parts and repair facilities away from potential target areas or regions vulnerable to fallout from nuclear detonations.

At the meeting were officials from the publicly-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines, the privately-owned Canadian Pacific Airlines, Maritime Central Airlines, Pacific Western Airlines, Quebecair, TransAir, Nordair and Okanagan Helicopters.

The preliminary meeting was aimed at explaining how civil aviation must function in any national disaster.

The airline representatives were asked to report back to their carriers on emergency needs.

Low Highway Bid By Richmond Firm

NEW POWER TAKEOVER UNLIKELY

Premier Bennett said Thursday a government survey indicates there is no advantage in taking over the East and West Kootenay power companies. "No decision has been made," he told a press conference.

"But I would be less than fair if I did not say that our survey to date shows no great advantage to taking over East Kootenay Power and West Kootenay Power and Light," he added.

He said there was not the same "compelling" situation as there was in taking over the B.C. Electric.

No large amount of federal corporation tax was at stake, he said.

First step toward a new Patricia Bay Highway was taken Thursday when tenders were opened for construction of a bypass around the airport.

Low bid for the 2.87-mile job was McPhail's Construction of Richmond with $219,832.

There were eight bids ranging to a high of $330,000.

The new road will be from the intersection of Lochside Drive at Bazan Bay, cutting through fields on the outskirts of Sidney and rejoining the road to Swartz Bay at Ardwell Road.

The federal government is paying for the project because it is necessary to allow for extension of runways at the airport.

Eventually the provincial government will relocate and widen other sections of the highway to provide a fast, four-lane route from Victoria to the airport and the government's ferries.

A RESIDENT of Victoria for 11 years, Harold Thayer, 43, of Vancouver has been appointed educational and publicity director for Canada by the International Association of Machinists, working out of the Montreal office. He is president of Lodge 692, Vancouver, and past-president of Lodge 456, Victoria. Prior to his appointment he was national research secretary of the CCF and for eight years full-time provincial secretary-treasurer of the B.C. CCF and editor of the B.C. CCF news.

'HE'LL BE HARD TO REPLACE'

Premier's Aide to Quit

Resignation of Premier Bennett's executive assistant Dan Ekman was announced Thursday.

Mr. Bennett cited personal reasons for the resignation.

He said a successor would be announced "about Oct. 15."

Mr. Ekman will be on holiday until that time. He said he had no announcement to make on his future plans.

Formerly a Vancouver newspaper columnist and a public relations officer with West-coast Transmission Co., Mr. Ekman, 35, has been the premier's assistant since April 1, 1959.

Ekman was that he would hold the post for two years.

"Because an extremely busy schedule was in prospect this summer he agreed at my request to continue until the present time, a fact I greatly appreciate," said Mr. Bennett.

MISS HIM

"I will miss him greatly because his special talents will be hard to replace," said the premier.

"The association couldn't have been more friendly had he been a son of mine."

Mr. Bennett said the mutual agreement he had with Mr.

U.K. Gov't. Throws Block At New CPA Flight Plan

OTTAWA—The British government has blocked a new Canadian Pacific Airlines service from western Canada to the U.K.

CPA planned to inaugurate the service Oct. 6 and had launched an advertising campaign in England.

But suddenly the British government stepped in.

Only a few weeks before the Ottawa government designated CPA as a passenger carrier from the west to London, Britain had refused to grant a bid by a British firm, Cunard Eagle Airlines, for a similar service.

The reason given was that there is not enough traffic. The British view was that a new service would cut into the revenues of Britain's BOAC line and Trans-Canada Airlines.

One official said the CPA hassle "could take months to straighten up."

CPA had placed advertisements in the U.K. announcing the start of its new service. The British, taken aback at this indication that Canada felt the matter was settled, put on some diplomatic pressure, and the advertising was withdrawn.

Transport Minister Balcer continues to insist there are no problems involved in the matter. But the British take a different view.

As a first step, the British asked the Canadian government to answer a number of questions. That was, almost a month ago, and so far they haven't heard from Mr. Balcer, or from the department of external affairs, which has taken over responsibility for the work.

After the questions are answered, it is considered likely a top-level meeting will be called for by the British, during which they will seek counter-concessions.

One of the features of the Canadian government's decision that annoys the British is the inclusion of the city of Calgary on the proposed CPA route. Calgary was not mentioned in a bi-lateral air agreement, and London considers its inclusions as a breach of the agreement.

The CPA flights are scheduled to land at Gander, which they must do under the agreement. But the British are convinced CPA has no intention of landing at Gander on the way to and from the U.K.

One Canadian government official said the CPA question wouldn't have caused a ripple

WORK FOR ALL . . .

The fun's over and the toil starts Saturday when Alice Montalbetti and other college students start sawing driftwood at Willows to help United Appeal.

MONTE ROBERTS

People keep saying, your holidays must have been very dull, you didn't go anywhere or do anything.

This is only partly true.

As mentioned before, I didn't go anywhere, for the simple reason I was already here.

But it is not true to say I didn't DO anything.

In fact, I had some ring-a-ting adventures not the least of which was the adventure of my search for a plain white man's cooking apron.

Or should it be a white plain man's cooking apron? At any rate, it occurred to me one morning that I had promised to cook dinner that night.

And when it occurred to me I should have a cooking apron, man's, white, plain, where should I be standing but right outside a department store.

So I went into the store, and entered the men's wear department, and expressed my need.

"I wish," I said, "a plain white man's cooking apron."

"Oh," said the clerk, "a barbecue apron with 'head cook' and 'oh, you kid' on it?"

"I want nothing on it, not even gray stains," said I.

"Just a plain white man's cooking apron."

"Try hardware, in the basement," advised the clerk.

So I tried hardware, in the basement, where a lady clerk was dispiritedly unpacking Christmas toys.

"Who sent you?" she asked suspiciously, when I made my familiar apron request.

I told her, and she said "wait 'till I get my hands on HIM. You won't find aprons HERE. Try notions, second floor."

So off I trudged to the higher regions, but just before I reached notions, second floor, there was a great view hallooing on stairs below.

"Yoicks," came the voice of the lady clerk. "I goofed. Your apron will be in ladies' wear, main floor."

A hush fell over the other shoppers who crowded the store, as they craned their necks to see what manner of man it was who sought to purchase an apron.

I slunk into ladies' wear, main floor, but somehow the heart had gone out of my search for a plain, white man's apron.

"I was looking for an apron for my wife," I said in a voice calculated to reassure my fellow shoppers.

The apron was yellow and frilly, but the roast seemed to taste alright.

Determined is the only word for them.

Braving a hail of criticism because their parade through town Thursday in support of the United Appeal got out of hand, students of Victoria College have decided to recoup their losses and regain their good name by staging a clean-up campaign on Willows Beach Saturday afternoon.

Student power saw operators, all of them experienced, will cut up driftwood into usable lengths and supply them as firewood to anyone willing to go to the beach and pick them up.

No charge will be made, but recipients will be asked to make donations to the United Appeal.

AFTERNOON 'DELIVERY'

Work will begin at 1 p.m., and the first wood will be available about half an hour later.

The plan to convert driftwood into firewood is part of an overall plan for Victoria College's Frosh Week, the traditional week of initiation for first-year students, aligned this year with the United Appeal.

A parade through town on Thursday, intended to give publicity to the United Appeal and allow the students to blow off a little steam, turned into a egg and fruit-throwing melee.

It prompted the following statement from a students' council spokesman:

DEEP REGRETS

"The students' council deeply regrets any damage or inconvenience caused to the citizens of Victoria through the Thursday parade, and in its own defence points out that at least part of the trouble was caused by non-college juveniles who assaulted the marchers."

"We accept the moral responsibility of organizing the march, which was arranged in good faith, and stress that we are still eager to lend our support to the United Appeal in whatever way we can."

Frustrated tempers were responsible for some bitter remarks about the students' conduct from city police immediately after the parade, but lack of reported damage today resulted in a more benevolent attitude.

"At a time when the College is seeking support from the public," said Police Chief John Blackstock, "the students were doing more harm than good."

"Their conduct at the parade did no good for the cause they were alleged to have been supporting."

Public Fund Thefts May Mean Prison

Magistrate William Ostler lashed out today at misappropriation of public funds, in particular the unemployment insurance fund and warned that jail terms could be imposed instead of fines.

His remarks were triggered by the appearance in city police court of Dean T. Daly, 3134 Alder, who pleaded guilty to obtaining $40 from the fund last year by failing to declare part-time income.

"Although I was approached in good faith by the student leaders who behaved very well during the whole affair, it was obvious they had no control over the rowdy freshmen."

Starting at the Hudson's Bay Co. parking lot, some 200 students marched south on Douglas, detouring into buildings, including City Hall, throwing fruit, eggs plus homemade water and flour bombs at each other.

A few passers-by were "winged" by these missiles but no injuries were reported by hospitals.

HOTEL GROUNDS

The parade kept moving fairly briskly until it turned on to Belleville where students started spreading through the Empress Hotel grounds.

At this point police received orders to break it up but some difficulty was experienced until an unknown hotel employee turned on the sprinkling system.

Nearing the end of a riotous parade through town Thursday, Victoria College students march down Government Street beside the Empress Hotel.

Minutes later they broke ranks and spread over the grounds. Police had difficulty dispersing them until the lawn sprinkling system was turned on.

Cougars Enjoyed Free Ride

Dispute Arises On $3,000 Bill

Victoria Cougar Hockey Club played 35 league games in Memorial Arena last season and held numerous practices—all without paying a cent for use of the building and ice.

In fact, according to the annual financial statement released today, the arena may be stuck for a $3,000 bill for administration services to the defunct club.

The audit, covering the year ended May 31, showed an overall "profit" of $17,901 from all arena operations compared with the record $57,810 set the previous year.

NEW IDEAS

New manager John Morgan is busy searching and planning new ideas to offset in future the revenue loss suffered by departure of professional hockey.

Even though reporting an operating surplus, city taxpayers, as in the previous year, had to subsidize the arena with an approximately $40,000 payment on the mortgage. Total revenue fell from $152,461 to $113,718, the audit showed. Expenditures were $95,817 compared with $94,650 the previous year.

Biggest individual loss was the $18,502 realized from ice rentals in 1959-60 to the Cougar Hockey Club.

NO PROFITS

Last year this figure dropped to nil under a last-ditch profit-sharing arrangement aimed at keeping the Cougars in Victoria.

There were no profits to share and the auditors reported, even the $3,000 billed by the arena to the club for administrative services was being disputed by the hockey management.

The former Victoria club now is located in Los Angeles and has been renamed the Blades. It is owned by Jim Piggott of Saskatoon.

Along with the rental losses, the poor hockey season also cut into the concession profits. They fell from $26,152 in 1959-60 to $21,180 in 1960-61.

Among larger revenue producers, with comparative figures for the previous year in brackets, were: skating $40,041 ($48,496); dances $1,841 ($2,489); ice capades $3,876 ($6,689); special events and rentals $16,006 ($13,818); and skate shop $3,822 ($4,656).

Mr. Morgan said the loss of professional hockey will be hard to offset, "especially in our conclusions which will lose about 100,000 potential patrons a year."

MYSTERY RIDE TO HEALTH

A mystery health tour for cyclists has been organized by health studio operator Ove Witt for next Sunday afternoon.

Cyclists, preferably aged 25 and over, should assemble with their bicycles at the Shelbourne Shopping Plaza, at 1 p.m.

Mr. Witt will then lead them on an eight to 10-mile mystery tour of the countryside.

On returning to the Shelbourne Shopping Plaza the cyclists will be served with refreshments.

"The object of this tour will be to show how people can improve their health and muscles by cycling in the country," Mr. Witt said.

'OR ELSE'

Comedy Star Asks $2,500 From CHEK

As an aftermath to its coverage of the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver, CHEK-TV is faced with an "or else" request by a performer for about $2,500.

According to station manager R. L. McDaniel, when CHEK-TV was awarded rights to televise the exhibition, PNE officials gave the local outlet full permission to cover anything they saw fit.

One of these was Paul Gilbert's comedy act during the outdoor water show.

"Mr. Gilbert," Mr. McDaniel explained, "was well aware that he was going to be televised as part of our coverage of the over-all exhibition. It was no secret, as our equipment had to be set up well in advance of going on the air, and yet he made no objections at that time."

REFUSED

"It was approximately two weeks after the PNE was over that his manager contacted Mr. Armstrong (David M. Armstrong, CHEK-TV president) and demanded payment of about $2,500. Mr. Armstrong refused and then we received a letter from Gilbert's lawyer which we turned over to our lawyer, and that's where the matter now rests."

Gilbert was a one-time NBC Comedy Hour star.

Fair Pull-Out Jaycee Threat

Esquimalt Arena Already Contacted

Annual Jaycee fair may be shifted from Memorial Arena to the new Esquimalt Arena next spring if the chamber doesn't get its way on a street carnival concession.

This threat was the first salvo launched by fair director Eric Charman today as an all-out battle began between the Jaycees and Greater Victoria Celebrations' Association which runs the traditional Victoria Day holiday weekend events.

Mr. Charman's comment followed a city public works committee decision to call a showdown meeting between the two organizations that have been feuding for years over which would bring in the first—and most profitable—carnival of the season.

CLOSE STREET

The Jaycees applied for closing of Blanshard Street in front of Memorial Arena, May 14-19, where they hold their annual fair. The celebrations association protested this would hurt their May 24 efforts.

Public works committee agreed a street carnival should be permitted but decided it would choose which of the two organizations would get the privilege at a subsequent showdown meeting.

"If there is any question of any other group getting the right to use that street for a carnival during our fair, we would just take our fair out of Memorial Arena," said Mr. Charman.

"That's all there is to it. We have another site available to us outside the city and that's where we would go."

NEAR BOUNDARY

"I won't name the site but it's near the boundary—not away out in the sticks," Joseph Janarelli, manager of the Esquimalt arena, later confirmed the Jaycees had been negotiating for use of the building and its large parking lot.

Warm Greeting Given Iceland's President

Icelanders are much like Canadians in their "way of thinking," the president of Iceland, Hon. Asger Asgerisson, said on his arrival in Victoria today.

"We have the oldest democratic parliament in the world," the imposing white-haired visitor said, "and we have preserved a free way of life similar to that of Canada."

The president and his wife were welcomed to British Columbia at Patricia Bay airport this morning by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes and deputy provincial secretary, L. J. Wallace, representing the B.C. government.

RCMP ESCORT

They drove to the Empress Hotel behind a full RCMP escort and were further welcomed on arrival by officials of the Icelandic Club of Victoria who will entertain them at a banquet.

On Saturday there will be a luncheon in their honor at Government House.

Banish Breakfast Blues With Guinea Hens' Eggs

By PENNY SAVER

Ave breakfasts around your house becoming dangerously close to a mumbled greeting, rustle of a newspaper and an uninterested scramble through the usual bacon and eggs? Sounds frightful, doesn't it—yet how easy to fall into an accepted routine. Make sure hubby sits up and takes notice tomorrow morning. Serve him guinea hen eggs. Ones I've seen sell at 30 cents a dozen and provide one of the most delicious taste treats I've had for a long time. They're not unlike the plovers' eggs so prized by folks in the Old Country. Serve them and wait for the reaction.

For a delicious dinner or supper dish try some of the skate that's budget-priced at 30 cents a pound. Packed full of food value, when boiled and baked and served with a mustard sauce, skate becomes a meal fit for a king.

Are the school children in your house beginning to hint that they'd like something a little different to the usual sandwiches in their lunch box? If so, rate at top of popularity poll by giving them some of the Cornish pastries that sell at two for 25 cents.

I've tasted them and they're just like the one's made back in Cornwall with meat portion far outdoing the amount of potato and carrot.

Another lunch-box favorite would be one of the mince tarts that are priced at 60 cents a dozen. Pastry with which these are made is result of store owner obtaining an exclusive recipe from England. It's as tasty as any cookie mix.

For those who live alone or for small families, one of the best buys I've seen are chickens already roasted and stuffed with a sage dressing.

You can buy a chicken, large enough to serve three or four for $1.50 or half a chicken for 80 cents.

Want to Reduce Hips? Ride a Bike at Home

Q—"Where do you measure when measuring hips? I am concerned about my lower back hipline. How can I reduce bulges here?"

A—When a hip measurement is given, it is the measurement of the lower back hipline, the largest part of your hips. Take your measurement there. A bending exercise, in which you run the hands as far down the legs as possible and then "drag" them up again, will help reduce those lower-back hip bulges.

Q—"I am a young woman and have dark, heavy hairs growing on my lip. I would like to have these removed permanently but do not know whom to see. I have been told that I can have this hair removed permanently by the electric needle. Do I see a regular doctor for this?"

A—The hair can be removed permanently. See an electrolysis. Some skin specialists have electrolysis in their offices, or they can recommend one to you.

Q—"I sleep on my stomach. Is this harmful since it flattens the breasts? I am 24 years old and my only pregnancy was seven years ago. I would like to improve my bust."

A—It seems to me that the habit of sleeping on the stomach would detract from the beauty of a bust. It flattens it just as a poorly-fitted flattening bra would. You can increase your bust measurement with special exercises. If you or any of my readers would like to have these, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7. "JUST AS GOOD" AS ANOTHER?

True, lots of creams are similar in doing a surface job only. But if your need is for a treatment cream that will effectively battle early-aging signs such as crow's feet, little lines, flakiness, then POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM is the answer. This famous cream, now with Allantoin, goes to work in just 10 minutes to repair skin robbed of natural moisture. Allantoin floats off lifeless surface skin cells... speeds penetration of Pond's rich moisturizing lanolin to thirsty tissues far below. Almost overnight, skin dried out by harsh weather, indoor heat, low-fat diets, regains its softness, smoothness... looks young again! Use POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM regularly. Elliott-Mattick Wedding Vows

Rev. T. D. B. Ragg officiated at the wedding in St. Luke's Anglican Church of Elizabeth Ann Mattick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mattick, 5273 Cordova Bay Road, and John Sydney Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lane Elliott, 976 Westing Road. White and pink gladioli and carnations decorated the church for the ceremony and white flowers centred the satin bow pew markers.

After a honeymoon in San Francisco, the couple will make their new home in Vancouver.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of peau de soie that was slightly on train. It featured a portrait neckline, lily point sleeves and full skirt. Tiny seed pearls sparkled on the large white rose that held the elbow-length veil of illusion net. Gardenias, stephanotis and trailing ivy were in the bouquet.

Turquoise delustered satin bell-skirted gowns were worn by matron of honor, Mrs. J. W. Fetko, and bridesmaids, Miss Marilyn Hobson, Lake Cowichan, and Miss Sara Mattick.

White dahlias, on turquoise satin bands, were worn in their hair and they carried bouquets of white carnations and feathered turquoise veiling. David Field, Vancouver, was best man and ushers were John White, Robert Christie, Port Alberni, and Gerald Fraser, Courtenay. Organist was E. V. Edwards.

DEAR ABBY

Why the Rush?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 25. She is not an outstanding beauty, but she is attractive and intelligent. She has turned down a few good proposals of marriage. When I ask her what she is waiting for, she says, "Don't rush me."

Is there any way I can speed up marriage for her? I am 48 and would like to see some grandchildren before I die.

WANTS GRANDCHILDREN
DEAR WANTS: Many grandparents, who have pushed their children into marriage, see more of their grandchildren than they bargained for. (They are raising them.) If you are impatient to see things hatch, settle down on a chicken farm. But don't pressure your daughter to fly the coop.

DEAR ABBY: I love to eat and I look it. I guess you could say that I am just plain FAT! Will jumping rope help me to lose weight?

FAT

DEAR FAT: Yes, if you SKIP desserts!

DEAR ABBY: I found a "strange" bath towel in my laundry. I do not send my washing out, so I was completely baffled as to how it came to be in my house. One night last week my husband and I went out, and we left our child with a sitter. The sitter is a rather quiet high school girl who came well recommended. She asked if I objected if she had her boy friend over while she sat. I agreed, as I trusted her.

My husband developed a bad toothache, so we came home earlier than we intended. It seemed her boy friend was just leaving when we came home. When he saw us he turned scarlet, and left hurriedly. When I went into the bathroom it was all steamy, and I found a bath towel just like the one that was left here before. Need I draw any

Takes Look At Finland's Social Work

By PAT DUFOUR

With a few reservations, Alderman Lily Wilson, chairman of the city's health and welfare committee, is thoroughly impressed with Finland's work in that field. She arrived home late Sunday night after a two-month visit to that country. Ten hours later she was "on the job" at a committee meeting.

Most of her stay in Finland was at Helsinki where she was the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wardroper. Mr. Wardroper is first secretary at the Canadian Embassy there.

Finland's competent social program goes just a little too far for the average Canadian, thinks Alderman Wilson. "I would be very much against certain things such as the state's right to take over the life of every child born out of wedlock until the age of 17. It's an invasion of private rights."

"For the same reason, I couldn't condone a situation where the state (as in Finland) can walk into a home where they think children are being neglected and take over."

MILK BANK
Alderman Wilson was surprised to find in one children's hospital a mothers' milk bank. "It seemed odd at the time—but I suppose it makes a lot of sense."

She describes a hospital run for crippled children in Helsinki with a staff headed by a "charming handicapped woman" as the best she's seen anywhere.

"Everything sparkled with cleanliness and there were terrific facilities including a laboratory for teaching physics and chemistry and metal and woodworking shops. There were 150 children."

"Just like the seven dwarfs" is how she describes scene in the Kustaankartano Home for the Aged, where she saw dozens of busily engrossed "oldsters" happily hammering and sawing in the home's airy workshops.

She tells how each of the men and women in the home receive a kilo of sugar and a package of coffee every month. They're also free to come and go as they please so long as the authorities know their whereabouts.

Also receiving her full admiration was the Koskela Hospital for the Aged, where emphasis, as in Gorge Road Hospital, is on rehabilitation.

ADEPT WEAVERS
"I was amazed to see 20 looms—big and small—in the huge workshop in the basement. Patients make all kinds of beautiful work and proceeds are used for the hospital."

She showed me a delicate piece of weaving which she'd bought. It had been woven by an 83-year-old woman.

One interesting thing she noted in the hospital was that, where possible, the patients helped, keeping their own rooms clean and waxing and polishing the corridors.

Describing the Finnish people as friendly, hard-working and scrupulously clean, she had nothing but admiration for the "fierce" way they remain Finnish.

"Their country has been swamped by both Sweden and Russia during the past 400 years yet they are impressively nationalistic."

One final lesson she felt we could learn from Finland was the impression of space given by careful attention to parks and new buildings.

"In every building development, no matter how high the structure, emphasis was given to importance of maintaining a maximum of space between it and neighboring buildings."

"This is something that we should pay very careful attention to in Victoria."

gladioli decorated the church and white gladioli were at the altar for the ceremony. Pink heather marked guest pews. J. Almond sang "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register.

Bride wore a gown of white peau de soie with portrait neckline, lily point sleeves and a skirt with unpressed pleats that rippled into a train. Chapel-length veil was held with a pearl tiara. Only jewelry was an heirloom cameo. She carried a Bible topped with white roses and white heather. Mr. Pomeroy gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. J. Howes, as the only attendant, wore a peach brocade floor-length gown with Mrs. E. Brynjolsson of Vancouver.

carried carnations en tone. Mr. Howes was best man and the usher Clive Watson.

A reception was held in Holyrood House where a three-tier cake topped with miniature roses was cut. E. E. Corbett proposed the toast to the brides.

Mrs. Kentop wore a green wool suit with green feathered hat and black accessories to travel up-Island on honeymoon.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Miss Teresa Dowling, Bellingham; Mrs. M. G. Auen, Juanita, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Howes of North Surrey; Mrs. E. Maher and Mrs. E. Brynjolsson of Vancouver.

One hundred easy-to-make recipes in current issue of Canada's only woman's magazine were compiled by food editor Elaine Collett and her staff. "It took us nearly three months to test prepared foods, and mixes used as basic ingredients and get the recipes ready for the Canadian homemaker," she says.

Do Women Sidestep Responsibility Of Taking School Principalship

VANCOUVER (CP)—School board chairman William Burnett says women school teachers don't want to become principals because they like a man to be the boss.

The Vancouver school board chief said in an interview: "The school board has listed all kinds of top positions in elementary and secondary schools, but we just can't get women to apply for them."

"I don't think women want to undertake the responsibility of a principal's job," well tied down to his school even during the holidays."

Trustee Mrs. Jean Crowley, a former board chairman, says she thinks women may be deterred from trying for principal's jobs because they feel they wouldn't have a chance competing against men.

"This isn't the case at all, we would welcome applications from women."

Mrs. Crowley said quite a few women teachers are heads of departments in secondary schools. "I feel this is a good indication of their ability."

IN VICTORIA

A check with the school board office this morning showed there are no woman school principals here. There are several women teachers-in-charge, working under a male principal, also one woman assistant principal. Records show women do not apply for principalships in Victoria, but the reason is not clear. One official gave it as a personal opinion that as a principalship is administrative—and for life—women may not wish to take this work on.

Birthday Party

Mrs. P. E. Norris was honored last Tuesday on the occasion of her 80th birthday when friends gathered at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. Dean. Color slides were shown and musical selections given by the honor guest's granddaughters, Misses Shirley and Norma Dean.

One Christmas Dinner Cooked Another to Come in December

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Before leaving on her first trip to the Pacific Coast, Elaine Collett prepared a Christmas dinner.

The turkey was stuffed and cooked a golden brown; a plum pudding was boiled; a luscious cake was baked and all the "trimmings" were arranged.

"This when the temperature in Toronto was more than 90 degrees."

When the dinner was ready, the table was set and decorated with cedar boughs and mountain ash berries. Then, the whole thing was photographed in color for the Christmas edition of Chatelaine magazine.

Elaine Collett is food editor of this women's magazine and, in that position, she gives Canadian housewives and home makers new and timely ways of preparing foods at all seasons of the year.

She works from three to four months in advance to meet magazine deadlines.

"Sounds silly to cook a Christmas dinner at the beginning of September, but we get used to it."

Then she added: "I end up cooking two Christmas dinners, of course, for I have my second one with my husband at the proper time."

Being editor of the food and homemakers department of the magazine and in charge of institute testing work, is almost a round-the-clock job that includes arranging picture displays, developing new recipes, working out calory counts and necessary preparation times as well as giving the cost of preparing the recipes, which is a special Chatelaine feature.

Many of the recipes are first tried out in Elaine Collett's own kitchen and tested by her husband who "is very fond of food."

If the recipe doesn't seem "quite right" it goes to the magazine's test kitchen where Mrs. Collett may suggest trying "a little more sugar" or perhaps "a pinch more" of this or that.

Final test is made by her secretary, termed by this food editor as "an average homemaker who knows about foods."

"If Norma likes it, the recipe is made," she says.

NATION-WIDE SURVEY

How does she keep pace with the needs of Mrs. Canada, with new trends and the many problems that can arise in the home?

By visiting the various provinces, as she is doing now. While here she will talk to members of the Canadian Association of Consumers, to home economics teachers, and to housewives. She will check prices of food products, household commodities and furnishings for comparison with prices in other provinces and to find the average price across Canada.

Then too, there is a group of 1,500 Canadian women in the average age group of readers of Chatelaine which is from 21 to 50, who do surveys for her and answer questions.

They are in every salary bracket and in every province.

Their answers help Elaine Collett to prepare articles that will interest and instruct readers and to iron out problems through the magazine's counselling service.

"We get questions of all kinds in our 'Institute work,'" she says. "Telephone calls alone come to more than 300 in a month and we answer as many as 300 letters each month from all parts of Canada; others from different countries where Chatelaine is read."

WIDE RANGE

These questions can range from cooking and canning problems to caring for babies.

"We've even had bottles of earth sent in to us to analyze to see if it will grow certain foods."

Another branch of Mrs. Collett's work is with the seal of approval service that has been a part of Chatelaine magazine for 31 years.

"We do many different tests before we finally give a product a seal of approval," she explains.

Mrs. Collett has been five years with Chatelaine's institute and has been in home service work for more than 20 years.

"And I'm still learning," she says. "In order to serve the needs of Canadian women I must keep up with the trends and I must be well informed."

BRAWL MARKS SESSION OF MINE-MILL LOCAL

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (UPI)—A non-union member sparked a riot at a meeting of Local 637 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Thursday night.

Douglas Hart, who had been making motions from the floor, was mobbed by dozens of the more than 1,000 members present when it was discovered he didn't hold a union card.

In the brawl, ashtrays were broken, chairs were overturned and Hart was pummeled until he was rescued by the local's executive board. Hart was given a police escort from the union hall.

The meeting was called to determine the 2,000-strong membership's feeling on continued representation by the national executive of mine-mill in negotiations with the International Nickel Company of Canada.

Decision on the local's future was delayed a week.

RGMP WARNS UNIONS

Bitter Fight To Oust Reds

HALIFAX (CP)—Deputy Commissioner George McClellan of the RCMP says there is a bitter struggle ahead for men "leading the fight" against communism in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Mr. McClellan, head of the RCMP's security and intelligence branch and a man who has encountered "communism at the working level" for more than 20 years, said Thursday Mine-Mill's largest single local seems to be "achieving success" in separating itself from Communist direction.

He said for years "control of this union was in the hands of Communists or Communist sympathizers to a point where it was expelled from the national trade union movements."

Mr. McClellan, addressing a dinner meeting of the United Services Institute of Nova Scotia, said the pro- and anti-Communist factions of Mine-Mill, particularly at Sudbury, Ont., are engaged in "bitter strife."

He named Mine-Mill as one of several unions in Canada whose "leading executive and policies are identified" with the Communist movement.

Mr. McClellan said Communists have attempted to infiltrate youth groups and immigrant organizations in Canada, but their greatest success has been in the trade union movement.

He said the party attempted to infiltrate "communications, transportation, electric, public service and mass media" unions.

He said the Canadian Communist party, which has maybe a little less than 3,000 members and about 26,000 supporters, spares no effort to welcome immigrants, asking them to join groups that are Communist influenced.

But, he added, some of the strongest resistance comes from immigrants because they have seen communism in action.

U.S. Authorities Predict 'Grab' at South Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some U.S. military authorities today forecast a drive by Communist North Viet Nam to grab part of anti-Communist South Viet Nam possibly by using regular forces instead of guerrilla infiltrators. Such an offensive, they said, could come in November and December, after the rainy season ends in that part of the world.

A move of this sort could present the United States with a grave challenge about the time the Berlin crisis might be coming to a head. Such twin threats thousands of miles apart would put considerable strain on U.S. military resources.

"One thing is fairly clear," said one military expert on Southeast Asia. "The North Vietnamese want some kind of an enclave of play with politically."

By this, he indicated a belief that the North Vietnamese Communists may be anxious to occupy a slice of South Viet Nam, as a base for creating a puppet "government" to rival the pro-Western regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem. Up to now, the Communists have relied chiefly on hit-and-run guerrilla bands in the years-long offensive. Some times they have managed through terror tactics to dominate regions of South Viet Nam, but never to take them over completely. The Communists rarely have challenged the South Vietnamese army in full dress battle.

The Kennedy administration has undertaken a big increase in U.S. military aid to South Viet Nam, pointed in part at building up that country's army, providing better arms and other equipment.

Officials disclosed Thursday the U.S. is stepping up the flow of communications gear and other help to South Viet Nam, which is coping with a rash of Communist raids.

One reason for thinking there may be a push by regular-type Communist Vietnamese, military sources said, is that the anti-Communist South Vietnamese are "getting better at killing off the guerrillas."

REMEMBER WHEN CITY WON STANLEY CUP?

Presence of Montreal Canadiens for training in Victoria has brought memories of the city's hockey greatness 36 years ago when our team won the Stanley Cup by beating the Canadiens of that day. On page 10 today Archie Wills, who was sports editor at the time, and subsequently managing editor, does a flashback to the memorable scenes at the old Willows arena, long since gone.

"Roll Them Dice" shouts former president at charity game aboard luxury liner.

IKE WINS AT CRAP

ABOARD NIEUW AMSTERDAM (AP)—A chap named Eisenhower—Dwight D. Eisenhower—won about $60 shooting crap aboard this luxury vessel early today.

Unconfirmed reports have it that his lady—Mamie—did even better at the roulette tables.

And there were other notables aboard who pitted their skill against lady luck—one governor, a senator, dozens of foreign diplomats and a goodly portion of those whose names appear regularly in the blue book of social lions.

They all did it to fight the cancer which 15 years ago took the life of Damon Runyon—a writer who immortalized the "floating crap game" which had been outdone at last.

The liner left from Hoboken—across the harbor of New Jersey—under sponsorship of the New York City committee of the American Cancer Society which hoped to net $100,000 from the gambling party.

"I just bet on some fellow holding the dice whom I had never seen before and by gosh I came up a winner," said the former president.

The likes of Runyon's seedy characters—Nathan Detroit and Harry the Horse—were evidence by their absence.

In their places were such as the Rockefellers, the Drexels, the Frelinghuysens, the Gerrys and the Huttons.

Explosive Red China Issue Gets UN Debate

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—After 10 years of on-the-shelf treatment, the explosive issue of whether Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations was assured today of a full-scale debate before the General Assembly for the first time.

DECISION to debate the issue of seating Red China in the UN gets angry reception from Nationalist China delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang.

The 16th assembly's steering committee Thursday night accepted two proposals—one Western and one sponsored by Russia—that the 99-member world body debate the Red China issue.

But each proposal had different goals. The United States, which backed the Western resolution, wants to keep Peking out of the UN and Moscow wants to bring in its Chinese ally.

The balance of power in the voting may rest with the new African states, some of whom are friendly toward Peking.

By a vote of 15-to-0 with five abstentions the 21-member committee approved a New Zealand proposal supported by the U.S. and Britain calling for debate on "the question of representation of China in the United Nations."

By a vote of 7 to 3 with 10 abstentions the committee

WASHINGTON (CP)—West German Ambassador Wilhelm G. Grewe said today he would agree with Prime Minister Diefenbaker's suggestion to give the whole of Berlin an international status only if it would mean the transfer of the United Nations headquarters to that divided city.

APPEAL TO UN

'Void Must Be Filled Now'—Rusk

NEW YORK (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk called on the United Nations General Assembly today to name "an outstanding world leader" to take over the powers of UN secretary-general temporarily.

In a statement prepared for a speech he is making here later today, Rusk said "events cannot permit drift and indecision in the leadership of the United Nations."

He declared that the 99-nation General Assembly "must move rapidly to fill the void" created by the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

SOVIETS OPPOSE MOVE

The move was obviously aimed at trying to stir up a powerful drive in the United Nations assembly to override Soviet opposition to the appointment of a new UN chief executive.

Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko discussed the UN leadership crisis in a 4½-hour meeting Thursday. Most of their time, however, was spent on the Berlin crisis.

It appeared following their talks that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev must decide in a week or so whether he is willing to negotiate on a Berlin compromise or intends to push his demands closer to the brink of war.

On the UN front of the East-West cold war, Gromyko told Rusk he intends to insist on the appointment of a three-man directorate to take over Hammarskjöld's duties. He is absolutely opposed to any kind of any temporary arrangement, diplomats said.

CHALLENGE TO U.S.

Thus, while the Berlin crisis carries a greater danger of war, the UN dispute presents a more immediate and critical Soviet challenge to the United States.

"It is unfortunately clear," Rusk said, "that an immediate agreement cannot be expected on the naming of a permanent secretary-general. The United States therefore believes that action must be taken now to assure that the functions of office of the secretary-general are performed effectively and fully while agreement is sought on the appointment of a new secretary-general."

"An outstanding world leader should be named immediately to perform the functions of the office of the secretary-general for a temporary period, during which efforts to elect a permanent secretary-general should proceed in accordance with article 97 of the charter."

WILL NOT BARGAIN

Rusk told Gromyko the United States, Britain, France and West Germany want a peaceful solution of the Berlin issue, but that they never will yield to Soviet threats or bargain away their basic rights in the disputed city.

Gromyko gave no sign of willingness to modify the Soviet position, but did agree to meet Rusk again next week.

The U.S. and Soviet foreign policy chiefs met in Rusk's skyscraper suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The session was the first in a series initiated by Rusk to find out

SHORTER TEA BREAK BRINGS STRIKE CALL

LONDON (Reuters)—Shop stewards today ordered 45,000 workers in British Ford car plants out on a wildcat strike next Monday in a dispute arising from a company proposal to cut the morning tea break to less than 10 minutes.

The union leaders objected to a company offer under which the work week would have been cut by 75 minutes to 40 hours a week if union accepted a shorter tea break.

K Will Talk Anytime, But...

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that Russia is ready to negotiate with the United States "at any time, at any place and at any level."

The threat of war has perhaps never been as great in the postwar period as it is now, Khrushchev said. Governments of the western powers are intensifying military preparations in every way, he said.

Khrushchev made the statement in a letter to Indian Prime Minister Nehru. It was the Soviet premier's answer to a message sent him by the non-aligned nations after the recent Belgrade conference. He sent similar letters to other neutralist leaders.

"The Soviet government is ready to participate in talks which are really directed toward the speediest solution of urgent international questions," Khrushchev said, "particularly a peace conference on concluding a German peace treaty and the normalization of the situation in West Berlin."

"The sooner such serious talks, the better."

The Soviet premier said the situation in Europe would be better if countries which have not recognized both German states—the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) and the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany)—would recognize them in fact and establish relations with them.

"We also consider that negotiations between states, and particularly between the U.S.S.R. the U.S., as the most powerful and influential states, can and should play an important role in improving the international situation."

'Use Own Means' Adoula Warns

HALT THREATS DE GAULLE TELLS SOVIET

MARSEILLE, France (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle today called on the Russians to stop threatening the West if they really want East-West cold war talks.

He also warned that France will not tolerate the expansion of Soviet domination throughout the free world.

Speaking to a crowd of several hundred in this little provincial town on the second day of his "meet-the-people" tour of south-central France, De Gaulle reiterated that France is willing to join in East-West talks on Germany.

Vote Urged On Columbia Versus Peace

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan today challenged Premier Bennett to call an immediate general election on the issue of power development.

Mr. Strachan said the public should decide whether the Columbia River should be developed before the Peace River.

The premier, he said, is "committed to oppose my belief that the general public of B.C. wants the Columbia River developed as soon as possible in co-operation with the federal government."

"An immediate provincial election will let the people have their say."

'Act Soon' Fulton Warns B.C.

U.S. 'Restless' On Columbia

VANCOUVER (CP)—Federal Justice Minister Fulton said today that Premier Bennett's Social Credit government must decide soon whether or not it wants the international treaty to develop the Columbia River for power.

"If not, that's the end of it," he said.

The federal minister reiterated that B.C. had changed its position since Canada signed the treaty with the U.S., but declared that Ottawa would never subscribe to a position which saw Canadian territory flooded for the sole benefit of the United States.

This, he declared, was inherent in the present B.C. position that Canada's share of downstream benefit power should be sold in the U.S. rather than brought back as cheap power for Canada.

The American, he told a news conference, was getting "restless" to get on with the Columbia. They would not wait and if no progress came in the near future, the U.S. undoubtedly would commit itself to other sources of power.

Mr. Fulton said the U.S. Congress had recently approved the building of a power line from the northwest U.S. grid to Bellingham, Wash., capable of handling return of all Canada's Columbia downstream benefit power to the Vancouver area.

This would make already cheap Columbia power even cheaper since it would delay long into the future the necessity of building a $10,000,000 power-transmission line from Oliver, B.C., to the coast.

The U.S. was prepared to go

'STANDBY' CALL READIED AS CONGRESS TO RISE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy began a 10-day absence from Washington today after assuring congressional leaders he would inform them immediately of any serious change in the world situation after Congress adjourns, possibly Saturday.

He will spend the weekend at his summer home on Cape Cod and fly to New York Sunday night to address a Monday session of the UN General Assembly.

Canada to Produce More Champions

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Monteith held out hope today that new federal assistance to amateur sport will help Canada to do better in the Olympic Games.

"Our aim should be primarily to provide the proper environment and training for the youth of Canada so that they may in fact be good competitors," Mr. Monteith said in opening a Commons debate on the government's proposal to make $5,000,000 available annually for promotion of fitness and amateur sport.

"If this is done, then we can have every expectation that in due course Canada will have all the champions we would reasonably hope for," the minister said.

The program would not achieve miracles overnight.

"Significant gains will only be registered after a sustained effort and much remains to be done before such an effort can be mounted successfully."

Opposition Leader Pearson said achievement in international amateur sports does something for a nation's morale and prestige.

Mr. Pearson said the program will have to be carefully administered to make sure federal assistance is not directed to professional bodies. It was difficult today to define amateur sports.

There was less interest today in participating in amateur sports than in watching professional sports.

Mr. Monteith said there has been a far-reaching impact on Canadian thinking by the Duke of Edinburgh's remark that Canadians are not as fit as they might be.

There seems to be no doubt, the minister said, "that participation in amateur sport and recreational activities does have a beneficial effect on an individual's well-being, particularly with respect to his emotional and social outlook."

Mr. Monteith said the program will include:

1. Great assistance to teams participating in sports meets at home and abroad.
2. Support for expansion of facilities to train coaches.
3. Bursaries and fellowships to improve the competence of persons connected with fitness and sport.
4. Support for research.
5. Fitting recognition for outstanding achievement.

Chum Run Strong

VANCOUVER (CP)—Reports here indicate an encouraging run of chum salmon on the east coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands this week where chum fishing has reopened after four years closure. Forty seiners and 30 gillnetters caught 30,000 fish, which fisheries officials said is a good omen for the future of the run.

Boisterous Students 'Sorry for Inconvenience' So They'll Make Amends

WORK FOR ALL . . .

The fun's over and the toil starts Saturday when Alice Montalbet and other college students start sawing driftwood at Willows to help United Appeal.

MONTE ROBERTS

People keep saying your holidays must have been very dull, you didn't go anywhere or do anything.

This is only partly true. As mentioned before, I didn't go anywhere, for the simple reason I was already here.

But it is not true to say I didn't DO anything. In fact, I had some ring-a-ding adventures not the least of which was the adventure of my search for a plain white man's cooking apron.

"Or should it be a white plain man's cooking apron?" At any rate, it occurred to me one morning that I had promised to cook dinner that night.

And when it occurred to me I should have a cooking apron, man's, white, plain, where should I be standing but right outside a department store.

So I went into the store, and entered the men's wear department, and expressed my need.

"I wish," I said, "a plain white man's cooking apron." "Oh," said the clerk, "a barbecue apron with 'head cook' and 'oh, you kid' on it?"

"I want nothing on it, not even gravy stains," said I. "Just a plain white man's cooking apron."

"Try hardware, in the basement," advised the clerk. "I tried hardware, in the basement, where a lady clerk was dispiritedly unpacking Christmas toys."

"Who sent you?" she asked suspiciously, when I made my familiar apron request.

I told her, and she said "wait 'till I get my hands on HIM. You won't find aprons HERE. Try notions, second floor."

So off I trudged to the higher regions, but just before I reached notions, second floor, there was, a great view, hallooing on stairs below.

"Yoicks," came the voice of the lady clerk. "I goofed. Your apron will be in ladies' wear, main floor."

A hush fell over the other shoppers who crowded the store, as they craned their necks to see what manner of man it was who sought to purchase an apron.

I slunk into ladies' wear, main floor, but somehow the heart had gone out of my search for a plain, white man's apron.

"I was looking for an apron for my wife," I said in a voice calculated to reassure my fellow shoppers.

The apron was yellow and frilly, but the roast seemed to taste alright.

Determined is the only word for them.

Braving a hail of criticism because their parade through town Thursday in support of the United Appeal got out of hand, students of Victoria College have decided to recoup their losses and regain their good name by staging a clean-up campaign on Willows Beach Saturday afternoon.

Student power saw operators, all of them experienced, will cut up driftwood into usable lengths and supply them as firewood to anyone willing to go to the beach and pick them up.

No charge will be made, but recipients will be asked to make donations to the United Appeal.

AFTERNOON 'DELIVERY'

Work will begin at 1 p.m., and the first wood will be available about half an hour later.

The plan to convert driftwood into firewood is part of an overall plan for Victoria College's Frosh Week, the traditional week of initiation for first-year students, aligned this year with the United Appeal.

A parade through town on Thursday, intended to give publicity to the United Appeal and allow the students to blow off a little steam, turned into an egg and fruit-throwing melee.

It prompted the following statement from a students' council spokesman:

DEEP REGRETS

"The students' council deeply regrets any damage or inconvenience caused to the citizens of Victoria through the Thursday parade, and in its own defence points out that at least part of the trouble was caused by non-college juveniles who assaulted the marchers."

"We accept the moral responsibility of organizing the march, which was arranged in good faith, and stress that we are still eager to lend our support to the United Appeal in whatever way we can."

Frustrated tempers were responsible for some bitter remarks about the students' conduct from city police immediately after the parade, but lack of reported damage today resulted in a more benevolent attitude.

"At a time when the College is seeking support from the public," said Police Chief John Blackstock, "the students were doing more harm than good."

"Their conduct at the parade did no good for the cause they were alleged to have been supporting."

Public Fund Thefts May Mean Prison

Magistrate William Ostler lashed out today at misappropriation of public funds, in particular the unemployment insurance fund and warned that jail terms could be imposed instead of fines.

His remarks were triggered by the appearance in city police court of Dean T. Daly, 3134 Alder, who pleaded guilty to obtaining $40 from the fund last year by failing to declare part-time income.

"Although I was approached in good faith by the student leaders who behaved very well during the whole affair, it was obvious they had no control over the rowdy freshmen."

Starting at the Hudson's Bay Co. parking lot, some 200 students marched south on Douglas, detouring into buildings, throwing fruit, eggs plus homemade water and flour bombs at each other.

A few passers-by were "winged" by these missiles but no injuries were reported by hospitals.

HOTEL GROUNDS

The parade kept moving fairly briskly until it turned out to Belleville where students started spreading through the Empress Hotel grounds.

At this point police received orders to break it up but some difficulty was experienced until an unknown hotel employee turned on the sprinkling system.

... AFTER THE BALL

Nearing the end of a riotous parade through town Thursday, Victoria College students march down Government Street beside the Empress Hotel.

Minutes later they broke ranks and spread over the grounds. Police had difficulty dispersing them until the lawn sprinkling system was turned on.

Cougars Enjoyed Free Ride

Dispute Arises On $3,000 Bill

Victoria Cougar Hockey Club played 35 league games in Memorial Arena last season and held numerous practices—all without paying a cent for use of the building and ice.

In fact, according to the annual financial statement released today, the arena may be stuck for a $3,000 bill for administration services to the defunct club.

The audit, covering the year ended May 31, showed an overall "profit" of $17,901 from all arena operations compared with the record $57,810 set the previous year.

NEW IDEAS

New manager John Morgan is busy searching and planning new ideas to offset in future the revenue loss suffered by departure of professional hockey.

Even though reporting an operating surplus, city taxpayers, as in the previous year, had to subsidize the arena with an approximately $40,000 payment on the mortgage.

Total revenue fell from $152,461 to $113,718, the financial audit showed. Expenditures were $95,817 compared with $94,650 the previous year.

Biggest individual loss was the $18,502 realized from ice rentals in 1959-60 to the Cougar Hockey Club.

NO PROFITS

Last year this figure dropped to nil under a last-ditch profit-sharing arrangement aimed at keeping the Cougars in Victoria.

There were no profits to share and, the auditors reported, even the $3,000 billed by the arena to the club for administrative services was being disputed by the hockey management.

The former Victoria club now is located in Los Angeles and has been renamed the Blades. It is owned by Jim Piggott of Saskatoon.

Along with the rental losses, the poor hockey season also cut into the concession profits. They fell from $26,152 in 1959-60 to $21,180 in 1960-61.

Among larger revenue producers, with comparative figures for the previous year in brackets, were: skating $40,041 ($48,496); dances $1,847 ($2,489); ice capades $3,876 ($8,689); special events and rentals $16,006 ($13,818), and skate shop $3,822 ($4,656).

Mr. Morgan said the loss of professional hockey will be hard to offset, especially in our concessions which will lose about 100,000 potential patrons a year.

MYSTERY RIDE TO HEALTH

A mystery health tour for cyclists has been organized by health studio operator Ove Witt for next Sunday afternoon.

Cyclists, preferably aged 25 and over, should assemble with their bicycles at the Shelbourne Shopping Plaza, at 1 p.m.

Mr. Witt will then lead them on an eight to 10-mile mystery tour of the countryside.

On returning to the Shelbourne Shopping Plaza the cyclists will be served with refreshments.

The object of this tour will be to show how people can improve their health and muscles by cycling in the country," Mr. Witt said.

'OR ELSE'

Comedy Star Asks $2,500 From CHEK

As an aftermath to its coverage of the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver, CHEK-TV is faced with an "or else" request by a performer for about $2,500.

According to station manager R. L. McDaniel, when CHEK-TV was awarded rights to televise the exhibition, PNE officials gave the local outlet full permission to cover anything they saw fit.

One of these was Paul Gilbert's comedy act during the outdoor water show.

"Mr. Gilbert," Mr. McDaniel explained, "was well aware that he was going to be televised as part of our coverage of the over-all exhibition. It was no secret, as our equipment had to be set up well in advance of going on the air, and yet he made no objections at that time."

REFUSED

"It was approximately two weeks after the PNE was over that his manager contacted Mr. Armstrong (David M. Armstrong, CHEK-TV president) and demanded payment of about $2,500."

Mr. Armstrong refused and then we received a letter from Gilbert's lawyer which we turned over to our lawyer, and that's where the matter now rests."

Gilbert was a onetime NBC Comedy Hour star.

TRAFFIC FINES

Esquimalt Arena Already Contacted

Annual Jaycee fair may be shifted from Memorial Arena to the new Esquimalt Arena next spring if the chamber doesn't get its way on a street carnival concession.

This threat was the first salvo launched by fair director Eric Charman today as an all-out battle began between the Jaycees and Greater Victoria Celebrations' Association which runs the traditional Victoria Day holiday weekend events.

Mr. Charman's comment followed a city public works committee decision to call a showdown meeting between the two organizations that have been feuding for years over which would bring in the first and most profitable — carnival of the season.

CLOSE STREET

The Jaycees applied for closing of Blanshard Street in front of Memorial Arena, May 14-19, where they hold their annual fair. The celebrations association protested this would hurt their May 24 efforts.

Public works committee agreed a street carnival should be permitted but decided it would choose which of the two organizations would get the privilege at a subsequent showdown meeting.

"If there is any question of any other group getting the right to use that street for a carnival during our fair, we would just take our fair out of Memorial Arena," said Mr. Charman.

"That's all there is to it. We have another site available to us outside the city and that's where we would go."

NEAR BOUNDARY

"I won't name the site but it's near the boundary — not away out in the sticks."

Joseph Ianarelli, manager of the Esquimalt arena, later confirmed the Jaycees had been negotiating for use of the building and its large parking lot.

(A drive to find larger quarters was expected from the Jaycees after Victoria Curling Club indicated it may start construction of a new family recreational centre early next year. The curling rink and surrounding property have accommodated a large part of the fair in most years.)

Earlier, Mr. Charman said he would advise his organization to refuse to attend the showdown meeting called by public works committee. He said officials of the celebrations association previously refused to meet with the Jaycees to resolve their differences.

Mr. Charman also said directors of the Jaycees and the fair board had approved for early release a point-by-point reply to a celebrations brief criticizing the Jaycees.

The celebrations association says it has been hurt by the increasing encroachment of the Jaycee fair on the May 24 celebrations. Specifically, it asked compensation from the Jaycees for loss of revenue from carnival sponsorship and other events taken over by the Jaycees.

Warm Greeting Given Iceland's President

Icelanders are much like Canadians in their "way of thinking" the president of Iceland, Hon. Asgeir Asgeirsson, said on his arrival in Victoria today.

"We have the oldest democratic parliament in the world," the imposing white-haired visitor said, "and we have preserved a free way of life similar to that of Canada."

The president and his wife were welcomed to British Columbia at Patricia Bay airport this morning by Lieutenant Governor George Peakes and deputy provincial secretary, L. J. Wallace, representing the B.C. government.

RCMP ESCORT

They drove to the Empress Hotel behind a full RCMP escort and were further welcomed on arrival by officials of the Icelandic Club of Victoria who will entertain them at a banquet.

On Saturday there will be a luncheon in their honor at Government House.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Can you tell me if it is in order for us to have to pay customs duty and sales tax on a garment which shows distinct proof that it is a used one. Such was the case when our daughter on holiday in England sent part of her wardrobe home by mail, M.H.

A. Yes, if the garment has been purchased abroad and unless a customs declaration is made.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. No attempt is made to put a value on the mail, stamps or postage. These should be submitted to a dealer.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

In a recent city police court trial, Benjamin Edison, 2543 Government, was acquitted of taking goods under the value of $50 from Harry Haigh, 1586 Rockland.

Magistrate William Ostler pointed out in his summation that there had in fact been no proof of theft by the prosecution.

The younger section of the Junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1.30 p.m. at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for a field trip to Alex Road, West Saanich.

A fine of $100 and two years' suspension of licence was imposed on Donald James Preston, 2470 Sidney Avenue, Sidney, in Central Saanich police court Thursday after he pleaded guilty to criminally negligent driving.

The car he was driving Aug. 9 at about 9.10 p.m. hit the gravel shoulder of the Patricia Bay Highway near Telegraph Bay Road and turned over, throwing Preston and five other youths out before it landed in an adjoining field. There were no serious injuries.

William Waistell, 5165 Agate Lane, was fined $50 in Central Saanich police court Thursday for being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Other fines arising from the same check at 11.45 p.m., Sept. 15, on Bengordon Road were: $10, for failing to display registration card conspicuously; $10, illegal parking on highway and $10, no emergency brake.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said several applications have been received for the 1962 centennial co-ordinating job and a replacement "very definitely" will be made next week.

The position was vacated last week by William Dow who has returned to his previous job of convention manager at the Harrison Hot Springs Motel.

Capital City Yacht Club members will be hosts Saturday to 36 fishing enthusiasts from the Canadian National Institute of the Blind. Volunteer drivers will take the group to Clark's Marine, where a day of fishing aboard CCYC boats will start at 9.30 a.m.

Fully recovered from an eye operation, totem pole carver, Chief Mungo Martin, is back at work at Thunderbird Park. The chief had a cataract removed from his eye and was away for more than three months.

The first general meeting of the Oak Bay High School Parent-Teacher Association will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

R. T. Kipling, principal, will introduce members of the staff. Parents will be given an opportunity to visit classrooms, and teaching methods and objectives will be explained.

The Icebreakers Club of Victoria will meet for supper at the Monterey Restaurant on Saturday at 7 p.m.

The club will attend a lecture given by Dr. R. M. Petrie at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory afterwards.

The Canadian Marine Service icebreaker Camels was to dock in the Inner Harbor here at 1 p.m. today after a three-month tour of duty in the Arctic.

Under command of Capt. A. F. Davidson, the 233-foot vessel cleared the way for supply vessels to reach DEW posts.

During the winter Camels serves in more southerly waters as a lighthouse tender.

Charged with false pretences involved in the purchase of a car, Norman Carl McKenzie, no fixed address, was remanded to Tuesday for election when he appeared in Saanich police court today.

It is alleged that he bought a 1955 sedan from Suburban Motors, 3393 Douglas, Sept. 16 and paid for it with a cheque for $1,495 that later was returned from the Bank of Montreal marked "account closed."

The first general meeting of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association, 800 Pacific Wing, will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the RCAF Urban Centre, Yates and Quadra.

The Silver Threads Garden Club will hold its first flower show on Monday at 2 p.m. at 643 Broughton Street. It will be open to the public.

CHILDREN WELCOME—a sign that's something of a rarity—will be displayed prominently when 10-acre Garden Apartment building project is ready for occupancy. Located off Trans-Canada Highway bounded by Burnside and Tillicum, development plans integrated living for 120 families in 15 buildings, including recreation areas with swimming, wading pools, badminton, shuffleboard courts. First of the buildings housing eight family units is expected to be ready by year's end. (Times Photo.)

BRAWL MARKS SESSION OF MINE-MILL LOCAL

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (UPI)—A non-union member sparked a near-riot at a meeting of Local 637 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Thursday night.

Douglas Hart, who had been making motions from the floor, was mobbed by dozens of the more than 1,000 members present when it was discovered he didn't hold a union card.

In the brawl, ashtrays were broken, chairs were overturned and Hart was pummeled until he was rescued by the local's executive board. Hart was given a police escort from the union hall.

The meeting was called to determine the 2,000-strong membership's feeling on continued representation by the national executive of mine-mill in negotiations with the International Nickel Company of Canada.

Decision on the local's future was delayed a week.

RCMP WARNS UNIONS

Bitter Fight To Oust Reds

HALIFAX (CP)—Deputy Commissioner George McClellan of the RCMP says there is a bitter struggle ahead for men "leading the fight" against communism in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.M.S.W.).

Mr. McClellan, head of the RCMP's security and intelligence branch and a man who has encountered "communism at the working level" for more than 20 years, said Thursday Mine-Mill's largest single local seems to be "achieving success" in separating itself from Communist direction.

He said for years "control of this union was in the hands of Communists or Communist sympathizers to a point where it was expelled from the national trade union movement."

Mr. McClellan, addressing a dinner meeting of the United Services Institute of Nova Scotia, said the pro- and anti-Communist factions of Mine-Mill, particularly at Sudbury, Ont., are engaged in "bitter strife."

He named Mine-Mill as one of several unions in Canada whose "leading executive and policies are identified" with the Communist movement.

Mr. McClellan said Communists have attempted to infiltrate youth groups and immigrant organizations in Canada, but their greatest success has been in the trade union movement.

He said the party attempted to infiltrate "communications, transportation, electric, public service and mass media" unions.

He said the Canadian Communist party, which has maybe a little less than 3,000 members and about 26,000 supporters, spares no effort to welcome immigrants, asking them to join groups that are Communist influenced.

But, he added, some of the strongest resistance comes from immigrants because they have seen communism in action.

Two City Artists Represented In Prairie Show

Two Victoria artists, Mrs. Ina D. D. Uthoff and William West, are represented in an exhibition, "Artist Techniques on a Western Theme" which opens at the University of Saskatchewan, Oct. 1.

The exhibition, organized by Glenbow Foundation, Calgary, is being circulated by the Western Canada Art Circuit and is drawn exclusively from works in Glenbow Foundation's collection.

Mrs. Uthoff is represented by a gouache "Totem Poles," one of six works by her in Glenbow Foundation's permanent collection. Mr. West's ink and wash drawing of the Old Barn, Royal Oak, was recently acquired by the Foundation.

Officers Renew Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Masters, Mates and Pilots Union will renew a shipping strike with picketing of all west coast ports Saturday, the union said late Thursday night.

Victoria Daily Times 27 FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1961

POSTING to the newly-formed Vancouver target area headquarters at Chilliwack, and promotion to the rank of major, was announced today for former Victoria officer Capt. M. O. Lane. He has served as staff captain at Western Command headquarters for the past two years. He enlisted in the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry as a private in 1937.

U.S. Authorities Predict 'Grab' at South Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some U.S. military authorities today forecast a drive by Communist North Viet Nam to grab part of anti-Communist South Viet Nam possibly by using regular forces instead of guerrilla infiltrators. Such an offensive, they said, could come in November and December, after the rainy season ends in that part of the world.

A move of this sort could present the United States with a grave challenge about the time the Berlin crisis might be coming to a head. Such twin threats thousands of miles apart would put considerable strain on U.S. military resources.

"One thing is fairly clear," said one military expert on Southeast Asia. "The North Vietnamese want some kind of an enclave of play with political."

By this, he indicated a belief that the North Vietnamese Communists may be anxious to occupy a slice of South Viet Nam; as a base for creating a puppet "government" to rival the pro-Western regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem. Up to now, the Communists have relied chiefly on hit-and-run guerrilla bands in the years-long offensive. Some times they have managed through terror tactics to dominate regions of South Viet Nam, but never to take them over completely. The Communists rarely have challenged the South Vietnamese army in full dress battle.

The Kennedy administration has undertaken a big increase in U.S. military aid to South Viet Nam, pointed in part at building up that country's army, providing better arms and other equipment.

Officials disclosed Thursday the U.S. is stepping up the flow of communications gear and other help to South Viet Nam, which is coping with a rash of Communist raids.

One reason for thinking there may be a push by regular-type Communist Vietnamese, military sources said, is that the anti-Communist South Vietnamese are "getting better at killing off the guerrillas."

Soviets Make 15th Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another Soviet atomic blast was fired today, the 15th since the Russians resumed nuclear tests Sept. 1.

An announcement from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said: "The Soviet Union conducted a nuclear detonation in the atmosphere early today."

Hunters Face Fire Constriction

KELOWNA (CP)—A Kelowna forest ranger said today hunters found this weekend in the area of an Okanagan forest fire blaze will be conscripted for fire-fighting chores.

Ranger Dan Reiter said it would be unfair to the 62 men battling the 250-acre fire to endanger them with the threat of another blaze caused by human carelessness.

Rebels Knock Out Algiers TV Again

ALGIERS (UPI)—The French rightist underground secret army organization (OAS) knocked out Algiers' television for the second night in a row tonight to call on Europeans to demonstrate against proposals for an independent Algeria.

U.S. Student Held in East Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters)—East Berlin officials admitted today that U.S. student Fred Pryor, missing from West Berlin, has been under arrest in East Germany for more than a week. However, the East German state prosecutor's office declined to say why Pryor, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was being held.

Royal Bank Manager Arrested

SANTOS, Brazil (AP)—Police have announced the arrest of the manager of the Royal Bank of Canada branch in this big coffee port after an alleged shortage of 352,000,000 cruzeiros, about $1,175,000, was found on his books. Police identified him as Peter Smith Watson, 31-year-old British subject who is believed to be a native of Brechin, Scotland.

APPEAL TO UN

'Void Must Be Filled
Now'—Rusk

NEW YORK (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk called on the United Nations General Assembly today to name "an outstanding world leader" to take over the powers of UN secretary-general temporarily.

In a statement prepared for a speech he is making here later today, Rusk said "events cannot permit drift and indecision in the leadership of the United Nations."

He declared that the 99-nation General Assembly "must move rapidly to fill the void" created by the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

SOVIETS OPPOSE MOVE

The move was obviously aimed at trying to stir up a powerful drive in the United Nations assembly to override Soviet opposition to the appointment of a new UN chief executive.

Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko discussed the UN leadership crisis in a 4½-hour meeting Thursday. Most of their time, however, was spent on the Berlin crisis.

It appeared following their talks that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev must decide in a week or so whether he is willing to negotiate on a Berlin compromise or intends to push his demands closer to the brink of war.

On the UN front of the East-West cold war, Gromyko told Rusk he intends to insist on the appointment of a three-man directorate to take over Hammarskjold's duties. He is absolutely opposed to any kind of any temporary arrangement, diplomats said.

CHALLENGE TO U.S.

Thus, while the Berlin crisis carries a greater danger of war, the UN dispute presents a more immediate and critical Soviet challenge to the United States.

"It is unfortunately clear," Rusk said, "that an immediate agreement cannot be expected on the naming of a permanent secretary-general. The United States therefore believes that action must be taken now to assure that the functions of office of the secretary-general are performed effectively and fully while agreement is sought on the appointment of a new secretary-general."

"An outstanding world leader should be named immediately to perform the functions of the office of the secretary-general for a temporary period, during which efforts to elect a permanent secretary-general should proceed in accordance with article 97 of the charter."

WILL NOT BARGAIN

Rusk told Gromyko the United States, Britain, France and West Germany want a peaceful solution of the Berlin issue, but that they never will yield to Soviet threats or bargain away their basic rights in the disputed city. Gromyko gave no sign of willingness to modify the Soviet position, but did agree to meet Rusk again next week.

The U.S. and Soviet foreign policy chiefs met in Rusk's skyscraper suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The session was the first in a series initiated by Rusk to find out

Runyon's Famed Floating Game Outdone

IKE WINS AT CRAP

ABOARD NIEUW-AMSTERDAM (AP)—A chap named Eisenhower—Dwight D. Eisenhower—won about $60 shooting crap aboard this luxury vessel early today.

Unconfirmed reports have it that his lady—Mamie—did even better at the roulette tables.

And there were other notables aboard who pitted their skill against lady luck—one governor, a senator, dozens of foreign diplomats and a goodly portion of those whose names appear regularly in the blue book of social lions.

They all did it to fight the cancer which 15 years ago took the life of Damon Runyon—a writer who immortalized the "floating crap game" which had been outdone at last.

The liner left from Hoboken—across the harbor of New Jersey—under sponsorship of the New York City committee of the American Cancer Society which hoped to net $100,000 from the gambling party.

"I just bet on some fellow holding the dice whom I had never seen before and by gosh I came up a winner," said the former president.

The likes of Runyon's seedy characters—Nathan Detroit and Harry the Horse—were evidenced by their absence.

In their places were such as the Rockefellers, the Drexels, the Fringhysens, the Gerrys and the Huttons.

Each paid $100 for a steak dinner, drinks and the legal right to lose a wad of money.

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—After 10 years of on-the-shelf treatment, the explosive issue of whether Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations was assured today of a full-scale debate before the General Assembly for the first time.

The 16th assembly's steering committee Thursday night accepted two proposals—one Western and one sponsored by Russia—that the 99-member world body debate the Red China issue.

But each proposal had different goals. The United States, which backed the Western resolution, wants to keep "eking out of the UN and Moscow wants to bring in its Chinese ally.

The balance of power in the voting may rest with the new African states, some of whom are friendly toward Peking.

By a vote of 15-to-0 with five abstentions the 21-member committee approved a New Zealand proposal supported by the U.S. and Britain calling for debate on "the question of representation of China in the United Nations."

By a vote of 7 to 3 with 10 abstentions the committee

Public Should Decide Priority
—StrachanBy FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan today challenged Premier Bennett to call an immediate general election on the issue of power development.

Mr. Strachan said the public should decide whether the Columbia River should be developed before the Peace River.

The premier, he said, is "committed to oppose my belief that the general public of B.C. wants the Columbia River developed as soon as possible in co-operation with the federal government."

"An immediate provincial election will let the people have their say."

MAJORITY FOR COLUMBIA

Mr. Strachan added: "I say now that the majority of the people of B.C. want the Columbia River to be developed immediately so that we can provide new industries with cheap power, reduce domestic light bills and rid our province of unemployment."

Mr. Bennett has ordered the newly-acquired crown agency B.C. Electric to proceed immediately with the Peace River project.

He still has not come to terms with the federal government on financing the Columbia. Mr. Bennett wants to sell all its downstream benefits to the U.S.

END THE NONSENSE

Mr. Strachan said the Columbia has become a matter of charge and counter-charge between the B.C. Social Credit government and the Ottawa Conservatives.

"It is time for nonsense to end and common sense to begin," he said.

Premier Bennett is obviously determined to tie B.C. to the Peace River development, body, soul and pocket, irrespective of what it might cost the province in lost industry and high light bills for Peace River power.

The facts presently available indicate that the Columbia River can provide B.C. with lower-cost power than can the Peace River power proposals.

"I am saying it is time for governments to stop placing political expediency ahead of the future of our province."

TIME FOR PUBLIC

"In all of the charges and counter charges between Mr. Bennett, Mr. Fulton, the former B.C. Electric and the Wenner-Gren officials (the private promoters of the Peace before it became a government project)

'Use Own Means'

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)

The Congolese government announced today it would have to resort "to its own means" to put an end to the secession of Katanga province following the cease-fire concluded by the United Nations.

An official communiqué said Premier Cyrille Adoula has sent a letter to UN Congo chief Dr. Sture Linner expressing "extreme reserve" about the cease-fire agreement reached by Katanga president Moïse Tshombe and Tunisia's Mahmoud Khari, who headed the UN side of the cease-fire talks.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—Katanga provincial police wielding rifle butts and truncheons today dispersed a crowd of several hundred Kasai tribesmen who poured into the centre of Elisabethville seeking food.

The tribesmen were among the 30,000 persons copped up in a United Nations refugee shantytown.

They rode into the city on bicycles and began looting food stores.

SHORTER TEA BREAK BRINGS STRIKE CALL

LONDON (Reuters) — Shop stewards today ordered 45,000 workers in British Ford car plants out on a wildcat strike next Monday in a dispute arising from a company proposal to cut the morning tea break to less than 10 minutes.

The union leaders objected to a company offer under which the work week would have been cut by 75 minutes to 40 hours a week if union accepted a shorter tea break.

K Will Talk Anytime, But...

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that Russia is ready to negotiate with the United States "at any time, at any place and at any level."

The threat of war has perhaps never been as great in the postwar period as it is now, Khrushchev said. Governments of the western powers are intensifying military preparations in every way, he said.

Khrushchev made the statement in a letter to Indian Prime Minister Nehru. It was the Soviet premier's answer to a message sent him by the non-aligned nations after the recent Belgrade conference. He sent similar letters to other neutralist leaders.

"The Soviet government is ready to participate in talks which are really directed toward the speediest solution of urgent international questions," Khrushchev said.

He said that both East and West Germany should be admitted to the United Nations.

"The Soviet Union always favors the regulation of controversial problems by negotiations," Khrushchev wrote Nehru.

"We also consider that negotiations between states, and particularly between the U.S.S.R. the U.S., as the most powerful and influential states, can and should play an important role in improving the international situation."

Japan Blasts Soviet in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Japanese Foreign Minister Zenaro Kosaka assailed Russia today for resumption of nuclear tests and rejected the Soviet plan for a "troika" to succeed the late Dag Hammarskjöld as secretary-general of the United Nations.

'STANDBY' CALL READIED AS CONGRESS TO RISE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy began a 10-day absence from Washington today after assuring congressional leaders he would inform them immediately of any serious change in the world situation after Congress adjourns, possibly Saturday.

He will spend the weekend at his summer home on Cape Cod and fly to New York Sunday night to address a Monday session of the UN General Assembly.

B.C. POWER SERVES PETITION ON GOV'T

'Tempest in a Teacup'—Bennett

Two lawyers Thursday served a petition of right on the provincial government. B.C. Power Corporation's bid to sue for better compensation in the B.C. Electric takeover.

The petition was given to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black at 1:15 p.m., an hour and a quarter earlier than a prearranged appointment.

The power corporation, which wants to sue the crown to get $225,000,000 compensation for common stock in the private B.C. Electric, was represented by its own lawyer, D. M. Goldie, and Alan McEachern of the Vancouver firm Russell and Dumoulin.

UP TO CABINET

Mr. Black said the petition had been turned over to the attorney-general's department for study.

Final decision is made by the cabinet in such cases.

Mr. Black said he would inform today's meeting at Campbell River of the move, but he

... ATOMIC CATASTROPHE

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev warned the West today any war over Berlin "would mean an atomic world catastrophe."

He expressed determination to sign a German peace treaty.

He said in a message to a left wing leader conference meeting in East Berlin that a German peace treaty "is as necessary as it is unopposable."

Khrushchev repeatedly stressed the threat of war in his message.

He also said that both East and West Germany should be admitted to the United Nations. "The Soviet Union always favors the regulation of controversial problems by negotiations," Khrushchev wrote Nehru.

"We also consider that negotiations between states, and particularly between the U.S.S.R. the U.S., as the most powerful and influential states, can and should play an important role in improving the international situation."

ANIMATED TALK took place at United Nations Thursday between Krishna Menon, left, chief of India's

Algeria Rebels Seize TV, Fire Tirade at De Gaulle

(CP from AP-Reuters)

ALGIERS (AP)—A French rightist underground army knocked out Algiers television with high explosives Thursday night, seized the air waves, threatened President Charles de Gaulle and called for a mass demonstration today.

"De Gaulle, it is you who will disappear, you who will fall," declared a voice over the audio frequency as TV screens in Algiers homes fluttered black and white lines.

The broadcast was made over the Algiers television sound channel by leaders of the outlawed Secret Army Organization OAS after the TV transmission centre at Cap Matifou, 15 miles east of the city was seized and sabotaged.

A clandestine transmitter was then used to break in on the TV wavelength, but whether the broadcast was live or taped was not known.

Fugitive former Gen. Raoul Salan, under the death sentence for leading the April military putsch here, called for the demonstration against de Gaulle and his policy of self-determination for Algeria.

The call came as de Gaulle toured south central France and said in a speech he was confident that "an Algerian Algeria will co-operate with France."

CUT PROGRAM

ONLY REDS OPPOSE TEST BAN PROPOSAL

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Interparliamentary Union, grouping 530 members of parliaments representing more than 1,500,000,000 persons in 51 countries throughout the world, today urged all states to refrain from conducting nuclear weapons tests.

A resolution to this effect was adopted by the union's 50th annual conference, 379 to 87, with 10 abstentions.

Only delegates from Russia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia voted against the resolution.

West Berliners Cool To UN Transfer Plan

BERLIN (AP)—The idea of transferring UN headquarters to this troubled city leaves most West Berliners cool.

Most people asked about it had no confidence that bringing the world body here from New York would bring peace.

Some went so far as to point to the Congo and suggest the UN presence in Berlin might lead to more trouble.

Both East and West have floated informal suggestions that the transfer here of the UN might be a way out of the impasse over Berlin.

Izvestia, the official Soviet government newspaper, endorsed the idea this week as worth considering. Premier Khrushchev has intimated he would support the idea if the Western Allies quit the city.

On the Western side Konrad Adenauer, the chancellor of West Germany, has called it "a bold proposal" that might ease tension over Berlin.

His political rival, Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin,

however, thought the project "not very realistic." He insisted any UN plan would have to include both West Berlin and the Communist East sector, now sealed off behind a wall.

What does the Berliner-in-the-street think? Some businessmen thought the stimulus to tourism and the arrival of highly paid diplomats would give the economy a shot in the arm. But most people feared that in the long run the Communists would be able to twist the situation to their advantage.

SCHOONER SINKS, 6 ESCAPE

NANAIMO (CP) — The 63-foot Seattle pleasure schooner Nitewich sank in Welcome Pass near Halfmoon Bay, near Pender Harbor, Tuesday, but all six aboard escaped, it was learned Thursday.

The vessel was reported to have struck a rock and sank immediately in 60 fathoms of water in the Pass.

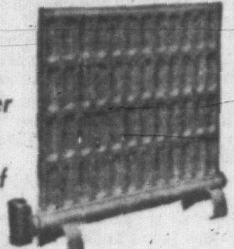

Capt. Monroe Peasley was skipper-owner of the vessel.

No other details were available. It was not believed any attempt would be made to salvage the tall-masted craft which has been cruising B.C. waters for many years. The depth of the water where she sank is considered too great.

Anti-Picket Law Appeal To High Court

By The Canadian Press
VANCOUVER—The Supreme Court of Canada will be asked to determine whether British Columbia's 18-month-old anti-picketing legislation is an invalid restriction on the freedom of speech.

The British Columbia Court of Appeal on Thursday gave Herby Konn, of Vancouver, leave to go to the highest court in Canada in connection with a British Columbia Supreme Court injunction which restrained picketing of a construction project.

Konn, who was sometimes accompanied by an unidentified companion, carried a sign which said "Non-union men working here". There was no evidence whether either belonged to a union.

The appeal court recently ruled by a 4-1 majority, although the statement published by Konn was true, and no common-law wrong had been committed, his action is forbidden by a provision of the 1960 British Columbia Trades Union Act, known as Bill 43.

SUIT SETTLED

VANCOUVER—The British Columbia Electric Company has accepted $2,500 settlement in a suit against a Chilliwack couple as the result of a traffic accident near Hope.

A truck and equipment belonging to the company were damaged.

SENTENCE DOUBLED

VANCOUVER—Appeal Court Thursday doubled the sentence given a Vancouver man for his part in a $10,000 Hotel Georgia robbery a year ago.

The court judges increased Harry T. Rhodes term to four years from two. The Crown appealed the sentence on the ground it was inadequate.

POLICE DENIAL

VANCOUVER—Police Thursday denied a union leader's claim they intimidated pickets at a retail outlet here.

Deputy Chief Gordon Ambrose said three police cars were sent to Taylor, Pearson and Carson's premises "because it was indicated there may be some breach of the peace."

"The officers didn't observe a breach of the peace and took no action."

The deputy chief was commenting on a statement by Bud Hodgins, international representative of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (CLC) which has been on strike at various company branches since July 17.

SEARCH FAILS

VANCOUVER—Two search planes returned here Thursday night without finding a trace of a fishboat that was reported missing Wednesday off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The trawler Strehor J. manned by H. Snow of Port Alberni, B.C., disappeared in heavy seas while en route to Ucluelet.

ACQUITTED

PRINCE RUPERT—A non-capital murder trial jury here Thursday acquitted 19-year-old Thomas Clifford Brown of Klenmu, B.C.

Brown was charged in the June 7 death of his uncle, Edward John Douglas, 47, of Port Edward. Brown gave himself up in Las Vegas, Nev., June 26.

Federal Sports Aid Expected To Help Canada in Olympics

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Monteith held out hope today that new federal assistance to amateur sport will help Canada to do better in the Olympic Games.

"Our aim should be primarily to provide the proper environment and training for the youth of Canada so that they may in fact be good competitors," Mr. Monteith said in opening a Commons debate on the government's proposal to make $5,000,000 available annually for promotion of fitness and amateur sport.

"If this is done, then we can have every expectation that in due course Canada will have all the champions we would reasonably hope for," the minister said.

The program would not achieve miracles overnight.

"Significant gains will only be registered after a sustained effort and much remains to be done before such an effort can be mounted successfully."

Opposition Leader Pearson said achievement in international amateur sports does something for a nation's morale and prestige.

Mr. Pearson said the program will have to be carefully administered to make sure federal assistance is not directed to professional bodies. It was difficult today to define amateur sports.

There was less interest today in participating in amateur sports than in watching professional sports.

Mr. Monteith said there has been a far-reaching impact on Canadian thinking by the Duke of Edinburgh's remark that Canadians are not as fit as they might be.

HALT THREATS DE GAULLE TELLS SOVIET

MARVEJOLS, France (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle today called on the Russians to stop threatening the West if they really want East-West talks.

He also warned that France will not tolerate the expansion of Soviet domination throughout the free world.

Speaking to a crowd of several hundred in this little provincial town on the second day of his "meet-the-people" tour of south-central France, De Gaulle reiterated that France is willing to join in East-West talks on Germany.
